Senators Hear Of Army Delays In Security Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A Detroit couple, testifying to almost 18 months of futile efforts to clear their names of security risk charges heard senate investigators complain today of "dilatatory" and too "damned diligent" handling of their cases.

The principals in a hearing before a senate civil service subcommittee were Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Waxter.

The cases rocketed into prominence when it became known Waxter had been denied an honorable discharge from the Army on grounds he had associated with known Communists or sympathizers. Among them the army named Dr. Alfred Y. Kelly, head of the history department at Wayne University, Detroit.

An army bill of particulars said Professor Kelly, whom Waxter gave as a character reference, was a contributor to and supporter of American Youth for Democracy, an organization listed by the Justice Department as subversive.

Kelly and the dean of the Wayne law school, Dr. Arthur Neuf, testified today Kelly's main contribution to American Youth for Democracy was to help boot it off the university campus.

Waxter was drafted into the Army June 1, 1953 and put in two years at Ft. Knox, Ky. Mrs. Waxter told of following her husband to Kentucky.

She got a civil service job with the Army at Ft. Knox in September, 1953, then was notified on March 4, 1954 she was being suspended the next day on grounds of "close and continuing association" with a member of the progressive party of Michigan. The party was described by the Army as communist dominated and infiltrated.

Supercarrier Weighs Anchor

ABOARD THE CARRIER FORRESTAL AT SEA, Aug. 29 (AP)—The supercarrier Forrestal, the world's largest warship, sailed quietly through the Virginia capes at sunset today and lost her immensity in the vast Atlantic.

The huge flattop became a mere dot on the ocean three hours after steaming from the yard's of her builders and shouldering her way imperiously through lesser ships thronging Hampton Roads and Chesapeake Bay.

During the next four days the Forrestal—which measures 1036 feet in length and whose normal displacement is 59,900 tons—will be subjected to every indignity in the nautical book. She will be put through hundreds of tests to determine her fitness to join the fleet.

Capt. Elliott Edwards, senior captain of the Virginia Pilot Assn., is in command of the observing vessel during the 5-day run. Observing all phases of the trial will be 150 observers from the Navy Bureau of Ships, numerous other naval officers, and 300 of the Forrestal's own crew.

Probers Believe Mrs. Landy Still Has Red Interest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Deborah Landy, whose past communist activities cost her honor student son a Naval Reserve commission, failed to convince the chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee today that she has made a complete break with her Red background.

Both the short, plump widow from Bradley Beach, N. J., and her son, Eugene, have said she quit the Communist Party at the son's insistence in 1947.

After hearing her at a closed-door session, Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), the committee chairman, told newsman Mrs. Landy testified she dropped her subscription to the Daily Worker only yesterday, and he added:

"That indicates to me that she still has a very lively interest in communist activities."

Mrs. Landy's son, 21, was denied a commission by the Navy when he was graduated as second man in his class at the Kings Point, N. Y., Merchant Marine Academy a few weeks ago. A special three-man board now is reviewing the decision, which was based on Mrs. Landy's acknowledged membership in the Communist Party from 1937 to 1947.

Mrs. Landy, 54, a composed little woman with graying black hair, confirmed Walter's account of the testimony regarding the Daily Worker. She said she canceled her subscription yesterday on the advice of her lawyer.

Walter said the Navy's refusal to commission Eugene Landy was only incidental to today's hearing. The inquiry's main purpose, he said, was to see what Mrs. Landy knew about efforts to recruit New Jersey farm workers into the Communist Party in the 1930s and 1940s.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP)—A woman employee of a South Side currency exchange today was robbed of $7,000 by a lone gunman attired in colorful sports clothes.

Mrs. Florence Erickson, 35, told police she fainted when the robber approached her as she left the main office of the Metropole Currency Exchange and demanded money she was taking to a branch office.

Witnesses to the holdup told police the robber, about 30, wore a white sports shirt, orange slacks, white cap with black visor.

Truman Cancelled Trip On Advice Of Physician

MACKINAC ISLAND, Aug. 29 (AP)—Former President Harry Truman said today he cancelled speeches at Los Angeles and San Francisco next month because "the trip would be too strenuous on the Old Man."

The 71-year-old Truman, seeming in the best of spirits, told newsmen he had cancelled the trip on advice of his physician and the "prodding" of his wife. "They are afraid something might happen to the Old Man," he said.

He did not amplify on the doctors' advice.

Running Ground Battle Is Fought

JERUSALEM, Aug. 29 (AP)—Egyptian and Israeli forces clashed today for the fifth successive time on the strife-torn Gaza border. Israeli sources said planes figured in the fighting for the first time in the area and an Egyptian jet was hit.

In Cairo, an Egyptian military spokesman confirmed the ground fighting but denied any clash in the air.

The Egyptian spokesman said the ground fighting began when Israeli troops attacked an Egyptian outpost near Beit Hanoun, south of Gaza. He described it as a running battle lasting two hours. The spokesman said no Egyptian military casualties were reported, but a 10-year-old Arab boy was reported wounded by Israeli gunfire.

U.N. Observer At Scene
Six persons — four Egyptians and two Israelis — were killed in two clashes near the Gaza border yesterday.

United Nations peace observers rushed to the scene to help halt the fighting. A U. N.-sponsored Egyptian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission, meeting to consider an earlier Egyptian complaint against Israel, was suspended immediately.

An Israeli military spokesman here said the air action occurred when four Egyptian jet planes of the British Vampire type penetrated Israeli territory over the southern Negev Desert and were intercepted by two Israeli fighter planes. The Egyptian planes later withdrew across the border, the spokesman said.

One Egyptian Reported Hit
A private source in Jerusalem said the Egyptian and Israeli planes exchanged fire and that one Egyptian plane was hit. All four Egyptian jets made it back across the border, this source said.

Egyptian authorities said 7 Egyptians and 13 Israelis have been killed in Gaza clashes during the past week.

Edith No Longer Threat To Coast

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 29 (AP)—Hurricane Edith, its threat to the American mainland now "absolutely gone," put Bermuda on her weakest side and moved further out to sea today.

With top winds of about 85 m.p.h., the storm center was some 150 miles east of Bermuda. Nothing was in its path now but the broad Atlantic.

It was moving about 12 m.p.h. in a north-northeast direction. Storm forecasters predicted it would keep to the same path the next few hours and perhaps pick up more forward speed.

"This course will take it well out into the open Atlantic," the storm forecasting office said. "All threat to the American mainland is now absolutely gone," Chief Storm Forecaster Gordon Dunn said.

Edith was being pulled northeast by a low pressure trough stretching down from the north.

Since the strongest winds are on Edith's east side, Bermuda was expected to get nothing more than light winds and rain as the storm passed by.

Blackbirds Battled By Baltimoreans

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP)—Thousands of blackbirds are descending nightly upon the Bosworth Avenue neighborhood in Baltimore these days, creating what one resident described as a "terrific stench."

Stuffed owls, noise makers and a spraying effort have failed to discourage the invading feathery army.

"I've never seen anything like it. They're going to drive the people out," said Henry O. Gale, one of the residents of the invaded section.

Nobody seems to know where they came from or why they picked that particular neighborhood for a nightly visit.

He placed a platinum ring on her finger and she gave him a white gold wedding band.

It was a second marriage for each.

Elephant Breaks Pane

ANAPOLIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—An elephant from circus threw a stone through the window, the police report read.

This explained the broken 5 by 5 pane in a new bottling plant here.

The police explained there had been a circus in the lot next to the building and that the elephants had a habit of pulling up grass with their trunks and tossing it back over their heads.

One of the clumps had a stone in it.

Grand Jurors Indict Icardi For Perjury

Accused Of Falsely Denying Complicity In Holohan Slaying

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted Aldo Lorenzo Icardi today on charges of falsely denying complicity in the bizarre slaying of Maj. William Holohan during a secret World War II mission in Italy.

Icardi, a former Army lieutenant who now aspires to practice law in Pittsburgh, is under a sentence of life imprisonment in Italy for his part in Holohan's death in December, 1944. The courts have ruled that he cannot be extradited, however, and legal authorities say he cannot be prosecuted on a murder charge in this country.

Throughout the complicated proceedings, Icardi has maintained his innocence. If convicted of perjury here he would be subject to a possible prison sentence of up to five years or more.

Appeared Before House Group

The grand jury accused him of testifying falsely in eight specific instances when he appeared in March, 1953, before a House Armed Services subcommittee. The subcommittee was trying to find out what happened to Holohan after he went behind the German lines in northern Italy as an agent for the Office of Strategic Services.

The House group reported at the end of its inquiry there was sufficient evidence to indict Icardi and Carl Lo Dolce, a former Army sergeant, for Holohan's murder but that there was no legal way to prosecute them. Lo Dolce is working as a tool designer in Rochester, N. Y. Both men received honorable discharges from the Army.

Lo Dolce Didn't Testify

Lo Dolce was given a 17-year sentence by the Italian courts, but he avoided testifying in the congressional investigation and was not indicted with Icardi today.

The grand jury accused Icardi of lying when he said Holohan left their secret Italian headquarters alive on the night of the slaying. The indictment said Holohan actually died from the effects of poisoned soup served to him by Icardi, Lo Dolce and others, and from the effect of bullets fired by Lo Dolce.

Rita Hayworth Discloses She Has Separated From Haymes

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (AP)—Rita Hayworth said today she has separated from Dick Haymes, and he later retorted: "I don't believe it!"

The red-haired screen star said in a statement issued by herself and an attorney with whom she had conferred for more than an hour.

"I have separated from Dick because I believe that in the best interests of my children, Dick and myself, it is necessary that both of us have time to think things out."

"I don't know at this time whether the separation will be final."

Haymes earlier had admitted there had been an argument but denied they had separated.

Haymes is her husband No. 4, and she is his fourth wife. By her marriage to actor-producer Orson Welles she has a daughter Rebecca, now 10, and by Moslem Prince Aly Khan a daughter Yasmin, 5½.

Rita didn't immediately indicate whether she'll file suit for divorce

France Decides To Put Morocco Plans In Effect

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—France today decided to set up a new Moroccan government within the next two weeks, with or without the Istiqlal party. Efforts to get the Istiqlal to participate will continue.

Pierre July, minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs, made this announcement to a news conference following a prolonged Cabinet discussion of Moroccan policy which began Sunday afternoon and ended this afternoon. A recess was taken for a night's sleep.

July was unable to answer some of the burning questions which the French public has been asking since the turbulent Moroccan situation entered the negotiation stage last week in Aix les Bains. These included:

Will the present Sultan, Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, an unpopular figurehead, be removed? When will the pro-Nationalist Front, Mohammed Ben Youssef, be allowed to move from exile in Madagascar to France, close to the scene? Will Gilbert Grandval, highly unpopular with conservative French settlers in Morocco, be replaced as resident general? If so, when?

These were questions left unsettled after a week of talks with Moroccan leaders by Premier Edgar Faure's "Committee of Five," which included Faure, July, Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, Defense Minister Gen. Pierre Koenig and Justice Minister Robert Schuman.

The "Committee of Five" reported to the Cabinet yesterday and today on its conversations at Aix les Bains. July said all Cabinet ministers had endorsed Faure's general Moroccan policy and authorized further talks.

Recalling that Faure's original program, as laid down earlier this month, had called for the formation of a representative Moroccan government by Sept. 12, July said: "I have every reason to think that as a result of the government's deliberations this objective will be attained within the prescribed time limit."

"One glaring example of this is the Dixon-Yates mess," he said. "Adding the administration 'cloaked their movements and worked in secrecy.'"

Hamburger Stand "Bites" On Prank

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 29 (AP)—A hamburger stand has 100 hamburgers and 100 cheeseburgers going to waste after a prankster called and said they were wanted for a "big get together" at the governor's mansion.

A few minutes later a taxi pulled up to pick up the sandwiches. The cab also was ordered by telephone.

But when the driver tried to pick up the money for the sandwiches at the mansion, nobody had heard of any party.

Truman Lashes "Big Business" Administration

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Aug. 29 (AP)—Harry S. Truman lashed out tonight at the "big business dedicated" Eisenhower administration, but predicted the "people will win their government back from the forces of special privilege."

Making another of his "give-'em-hell" speeches, the former President accused the administration of "undermining the laws it is supposed to administer"; charged it pursued "in stealth and secrecy" a plan to destroy the Tennessee power administration, and chided it for its failure to balance the budget.

His speech, his second major one in three days, was prepared for delivery at the Michigan Democratic Conference.

He told his audience he thought the record will show "that this sanctimonious administration is having its own troubles with corruption."

Truman said he was not talking about "occasional cases of individual misconduct or corruption," but the "deliberate use of the power of the executive branch to undermine the laws it is sworn to execute faithfully—to subvert those laws so that their benefits flow to the privileged few instead of to all our citizens."

"One glaring example of this is the Dixon-Yates mess," he said. "Adding the administration 'cloaked their movements and worked in secrecy.'"

ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 29 (AP)—Seven anglers are feared drowned in the annual salmon derbies at the mouth of Columbia River here.

Three small boats capsized on the river yesterday. Three bodies were recovered, but two others were swept away. Missing is another small boat with two men aboard.

Shigemitsu, U. S. Officials Give Friendship Pledges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu and American officials started three days of economic defense talks today. They began by exchanging pledges of continued friendship between their countries.

Shigemitsu told a luncheon tendered him by deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy that Japan and the United States are "destined to live in lasting concord."

Murphy said the American people have "as high a regard for the Japanese people as they can find anywhere in the world."

In midafternoon Shigemitsu, leaning heavily on a walking stick, went to the State Department where he and Secretary of State Dulles held the first of their talks. Shigemitsu lost his right leg to a Korean terrorist's bomb at Shanghai in 1932. He gets about with his cane and an artificial leg.

Lodge Calls For Ike Plan Of Inspection

Russian, British, French Delegates Renew Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, Aug. 29 (AP)—U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. today urged the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee to approve President Eisenhower's aerial inspection plan as an important step toward arms reduction and assurance against a world war.

Lodge, with Eisenhower's blessing, submitted to the subcommittee the plan for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection with the Soviet Union.

He said the meeting of the subcommittee, ordered by the Big Four meeting at Geneva, "affords an unprecedented opportunity for service to the peoples of our countries and to the other nations of the world."

Atmosphere Cordial

The American delegate acted as the five-power subcommittee began closed meetings in a cordial and friendly atmosphere carried over from Geneva. The session began with Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev presiding.

He renewed the Soviet Union's proposals made last spring in London. Anthony Nutting of Britain and Jules Moch of France introduced their plans announced in Geneva, and the fifth member, Paul Martin of Canada, promised a full study of all ideas.

The subcommittee meeting marks one of the most important steps in the U. N. search for disarmament.

The U. N. began work on this subject at its first assembly in 1946 but the East and West disagreed and no hope was apparent until the Geneva sessions this summer.

Four Plans In Brief

In brief, here are the plans the subcommittee is now considering:

1. President Eisenhower's proposal.
2. Prime Minister Eden's plan for an inspection of forces confronting each other along the dividing line in Europe.
3. The Soviet Union plan of May 10 which adopts Western ideas for a ceiling on armed forces and proposes that inspectors be placed at big ports, junctions and airports.
4. Premier Faure's plan for a reduction of military expenditures in national budgets, with the money thus saved to be used for peaceful development of underdeveloped countries.

Ike Hopes Talks Lead To Easing Of Tension

DENVER, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower predicted today the United Nations disarmament talks will lead to an easing of world tensions if conducted in the spirit of the Geneva Big Four conference. The President made the prediction as a U. N. disarmament subcommittee started New York discussions which were arranged at the conference.

Eisenhower's statement of hopeful optimism came as:

1. His press secretary, James Hagerty, declared "With the exception of a few partisans, I don't believe anybody pays any attention" to what former President Truman says. That was Hagerty's reply to a request for comment on Truman's weekend criticism of the Eisenhower administration.
2. Eisenhower allocated additional federal money for flood relief—this time an initial grant of one million dollars for water-ravaged areas of Pennsylvania.

Sam Mazza, personnel director of the firm, said about 75 per cent of the men had returned to work and all are expected back tomorrow. He said all employees had been reinstated in their jobs.

Truman Cancelled Trip On Advice Of Physician

MACKINAC ISLAND, Aug. 29 (AP)—Former President Harry Truman said today he cancelled speeches at Los Angeles and San Francisco next month because "the trip would be too strenuous on the Old Man."

The 71-year-old Truman, seeming in the best of spirits, told newsmen he had cancelled the trip on advice of his physician and the "prodding" of his wife. "They are afraid something might happen to the Old Man," he said.

He did not amplify on the doctors' advice. Haymes said today she has separated from Dick Haymes, and he later retorted: "I don't believe it!" The red-haired screen star said in a statement issued by herself and an attorney with whom she had conferred for more than an hour: "I have separated from Dick because I believe that in the best interests of my children, Dick and myself, it is necessary that both of us have time to think things out. 'I don't know at this time whether the separation will be final.' Haymes earlier had admitted there had been an argument but denied they had separated. Haymes is her husband No. 4, and she is his fourth wife. By her marriage to actor-producer Orson Welles she has a daughter Rebecca, now 10, and by Moslem Prince Aly Khan a daughter Yasmin, 5½. Rita didn't immediately indicate whether she'll file suit for divorce.

Grand Jurors Indict Icardi For Perjury

Accused Of Falsely Denying Complicity In Holohan Slaying

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted Aldo Lorenzo Icardi today on charges of falsely denying complicity in the bizarre slaying of Maj. William Holohan during a secret World War II mission in Italy.

Icardi, a former Army lieutenant who now aspires to practice law in Pittsburgh, is under a sentence of life imprisonment in Italy for his part in Holohan's death in December, 1944. The courts have ruled that he cannot be extradited, however, and legal authorities say he cannot be prosecuted on a murder charge in this country.

Throughout the complicated proceedings, Icardi has maintained his innocence. If convicted of perjury here he would be subject to a possible prison sentence of up to five years or more.

Appeared Before House Group

The grand jury accused him of testifying falsely in eight specific instances when he appeared in March, 1953, before a House Armed Services subcommittee. The subcommittee was trying to find out what happened to Holohan after he went behind the German lines in northern Italy as an agent for the Office of Strategic Services.

The House group reported at the end of its inquiry there was sufficient evidence to indict Icardi and Carl Lo Dolce, a former Army sergeant, for Holohan's murder but that there was no legal way to prosecute them. Lo Dolce is working as a toy designer in Rochester, N. Y. Both men received honorable discharges from the Army.

Lo Dolce Didn't Testify

Lo Dolce was given a 17-year sentence by the Italian courts, but he avoided testifying in the congressional investigation and was not indicted with Icardi today.

The grand jury accused Icardi of lying when he said Holohan left their secret Italian headquarters alive on the night of the slaying. The indictment said Holohan actually died from the effects of poisoned soup served to him by Icardi, Lo Dolce and others, and from the effect of bullets fired by Lo Dolce.

Blackbirds Battled By Baltimoreans

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP)—Thousands of blackbirds are descending nightly upon the Bosworth Avenue neighborhood in Baltimore these days, creating what one resident described as a "terrific stench."

Stuffed owls, noise makers and a spraying effort have failed to discourage the invading feathery army.

"I've never seen anything like it. They're going to drive the people out," said Henry O. Gale, one of the residents of the invaded section.

Nobody seems to know where they came from or why they picked that particular neighborhood for a nightly visit.

Ray Anthony Weds Mamie Van Doren

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 29 (AP)—Blonde movie actress Mamie Van Doren today became the wife of band leader Ray Anthony in a civil ceremony in a Toledo hotel room.

The 22-year-old bride amply filled a street-length champagne chiffon dress, horizontally shirred from top to bottom, with a low rounded neckline. Anthony, 33, wore a dark grey business suit.

He placed a platinum ring on her finger and she gave him a white gold wedding band.

It was a second marriage for each.

Elephant Breaks Pane

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—An elephant from circus threw a stone through the window, the police report read.

This explained the broken 5 by 5 pane in a new bottling plant here. The police explained there had been a circus in the lot next to the building and that the elephants had a habit of pulling up grass with their trunks and tossing it back over their heads.

One of the clumps threw a stone in. It.

France Decides To Put Morocco Plans In Effect

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—France today decided to set up a new Moroccan government within the next two weeks, with or without the Istiqlal party. Efforts to get the Istiqlal to participate will continue.

Pierre July, minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs, made this announcement to a news conference following a prolonged Cabinet discussion of Moroccan policy which began Sunday afternoon and ended this afternoon. A recess was taken for a night's sleep.

July was unable to answer some of the burning questions which the French public has been asking since the turbulent Moroccan situation entered the negotiation stage last week in Aix les Bains. These included:

Will the present Sultan, Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, an unpopular figurehead, be removed? When will the pro-Nationalist Sultan, Mohammed Ben Youssef, be allowed to move from exile in Madagascar to France, close to the scene? Will Gilbert Grandval, highly unpopular with conservative French settlers in Morocco, be replaced as resident general? If so, when?

These were questions left unsettled after a week of talks with Moroccan leaders by Premier Edgar Faure's "Committee of Five," which included Faure, July, Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, Defense Minister Gen. Pierre Koenig and Justice Minister Robert Schuman.

The "Committee of Five" reported to the Cabinet yesterday and today on its conversations at Aix les Bains. July said all Cabinet ministers had endorsed Faure's general Moroccan policy and authorized further talks.

Recalling that Faure's original program, as laid down earlier this month, had called for the formation of a representative Moroccan government by Sept. 12, July said: "I have every reason to think that as a result of the government's deliberations this objective will be attained within the prescribed time limit."

His speech, his second major one in three days, was prepared for delivery at the Michigan Democratic Conference.

He told his audience he thought the record will show "that this sanctimonious administration is having its own troubles with corruption."

Truman said he was not talking about "occasional cases of individual misconduct or corruption," but the "deliberate use of the power of the executive branch to undermine the laws it is sworn to execute faithfully—to subvert those laws so that their benefits flow to the privileged few instead of to all our citizens."

"One glaring example of this is the Dixon-Yates mess," he said. Adding the administration "cloaked their movements and worked in secrecy."

Shigemitsu, U. S. Officials Give Friendship Pledges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu and American officials started three days of economic defense talks today. They began by exchanging pledges of continued friendship between their countries.

Shigemitsu told a luncheon tendered him by deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy that Japan and the United States are "destined to live in lasting concord."

Murphy said the American people have "as high a regard for the Japanese people as they can find anywhere in the world."

In midafternoon Shigemitsu, leaning heavily on a walking stick, went to the State Department where he and Secretary of State Dulles held the first of their talks.

Shigemitsu lost his right leg to a Korean terrorist's bomb at Shanghai in 1932. He gets about with his cane and an artificial leg.

Hamburger Stand "Bites" On Prank

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 29 (AP)—A hamburger stand has 100 hamburgers and 100 cheeseburgers going to waste after a prankster called and said they were wanted for a "big get together" at the governor's mansion.

A few minutes later a taxi pulled up to pick up the sandwiches. The cab also was ordered by telephone. But when the driver tried to pick up the money for the sandwiches at the mansion, nobody had heard of any party.

Truman Lashes "Big Business" Administration

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Aug. 29 (AP)—Harry S. Truman lashed out tonight at the "big business dedicated" Eisenhower administration, but predicted the "people will win their government back from the forces of special privilege."

Making another of his "give-em-hell" speeches, the former President accused the administration of "undermining the laws it is supposed to administer," charged it pursued "in stealth and secrecy" a plan to destroy the Tennessee power administration, and chided it for its failure to balance the budget.

His speech, his second major one in three days, was prepared for delivery at the Michigan Democratic Conference.

He told his audience he thought the record will show "that this sanctimonious administration is having its own troubles with corruption."

Truman said he was not talking about "occasional cases of individual misconduct or corruption," but the "deliberate use of the power of the executive branch to undermine the laws it is sworn to execute faithfully—to subvert those laws so that their benefits flow to the privileged few instead of to all our citizens."

U. N. Command Approves Korea Truce Team Cut

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 30 (AP)—The U. N. Command yesterday agreed to a sharp cut in truce teams but demanded that the whole neutral inspection setup in Korea be junked as "unworkable and valueless."

The Communists already have agreed to reduce the size and number of truce teams. But they refused to abolish the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission.

At a long and grueling session of the Military Armistice Commission, the U. N. Command accused the Communists of blocking armistice inspection. The Communists replied that the Allies were trying "to wreck the armistice."

The reduction of truce teams will not satisfy South Korea. The government has charged that Communist Polish and Czech inspectors are spies and demanded that they get out.

Koreans have staged violent demonstrations against them. Under the cutback, proposed by the NSNC May 3 and which will go into effect about Sept. 5:

1. The number of ports of entry now subject to inspection will be reduced from 10 to 6—3 each in North and South Korea.

2. The number of inspection teams will be cut from 5 to 3 and team membership of 12 to 14 men each will be slashed in half.

Sweden and Switzerland, the other two nations represented on the commission, proposed the reduction. They complained they were blocked from effectively checking complaints of truce violations in the Communist North.

The latter part of the 5½-hour meeting was marked by another angry exchange over the case of Lt. Guy H. Bumpass, Jackson, Miss., pilot of a light plane shot down by the Reds Aug. 17.

Parks said that Bumpass was never X-rayed, although he suffered a skull fracture when his plane crashed in Red territory.

ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 29 (AP)—Seven anglers are feared drowned in the annual salmon derbies at the mouth of Columbia River here. Three small boats capsized on the river yesterday. Three bodies were recovered, but two others were swept away. Missing is another small boat with two men aboard.

Lodge Calls For Ike Plan Of Inspection

Russian, British, French Delegates Renew Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, Aug. 29 (AP)—U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. today urged the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee to approve President Eisenhower's aerial inspection plan as an important step toward arms reduction and assurance against a world war.

Lodge, with Eisenhower's blessing, submitted to the subcommittee the plan for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection with the Soviet Union.

He said the meeting of the subcommittee, ordered by the Big Four meeting at Geneva, "affords an unprecedented opportunity for service to the peoples of our countries and to the other nations of the world."

Atmosphere Cordial

The American delegate acted as the five-power subcommittee began closed meetings in a cordial and friendly atmosphere carried over from Geneva. The session began with Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev presiding.

He renewed the Soviet Union's proposals made last spring in London. Anthony Nutting of Britain and Jules Moch of France introduced their plans announced in Geneva, and the fifth member, Paul Martin of Canada, promised a full study of all ideas.

The subcommittee meeting marks one of the most important steps in the U. N. search for disarmament.

The U. N. began work on this subject at its first assembly in 1946 but the East and West disagreed and no hope was apparent until the Geneva sessions this summer.

Four Plans In Brief

In brief, here are the plans the subcommittee is now considering:

1. President Eisenhower's proposal.
2. Prime Minister Eden's plan for an inspection of forces confronting each other along the dividing line in Europe.
3. The Soviet Union plan of May 10 which adopts Western ideas for a ceiling on armed forces and proposes that inspectors be placed at big ports, junctions and airports.
4. Premier Faure's plan for a reduction of military expenditures in national budgets, with the money thus saved to be used for peaceful development of underdeveloped countries.

Ike Hopes Talks Lead To Easing Of Tension

DENVER, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower predicted today the United Nations disarmament talks will lead to an easing of world tensions if conducted in the spirit of the Geneva Big Four conference. The President made the prediction as a U. N. disarmament subcommittee started New York discussions which were arranged at the conference.

Eisenhower's statement of hopeful optimism came as:

1. His press secretary, James Hagerty, declared "With the exception of a few partisans, I don't believe anybody pays any attention" to what former President Truman says. That was Hagerty's reply to a request for comment on Truman's weekend criticism of the Eisenhower administration.
2. Eisenhower allocated additional federal money for flood relief—this time an initial grant of one million dollars for water-ravaged areas of Pennsylvania.

Three Nations Open Cyprus Conference

LONDON, Aug. 29 (P)—British, Greek and Turkish foreign ministers today began discussing the disputed future of Cyprus — the island-hinge of Britain's defense system in the Middle East — under the guard of armed police.

A tight cordon around the Lancaster House meeting place was a precaution against demonstrations by some of London's thousands of pro-Greek Cypriots. But there were no incidents.

It was decided that the conference proceedings should be in secret. The British argued that the temperature of the London debates then would not affect the passions of the island's 400,000 Greek and 100,000 Turkish descendants.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu told reporters later the ministers agreed to issue "substantial communications" after each session summarizing the course of the proceedings.

While the ministers were debating whether to keep the conference secret, a Greek reporter sat listening among the delegates.

Zorlu said the reporter got into the conference room "in disguise." The British Foreign Office later identified the man as correspondent of the Athens newspaper Eleftheria.

The Greek delegation said the reporter "did not stay long" in the conference room.

Greek Foreign Minister Stephanos Stephanopoulos and Zorlu voted in favor of having British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan serve as chairman for the duration of the conference, expected to last two weeks.

Far-reaching international effects are bound up with the outcome of the talks.

Greece has placed the Cyprus question on the agenda of the United Nations General Assembly which meets next month. If the conference breaks down she has said she will press for U. N. intervention in the dispute. This has worried Britain. She does not want to be in the position of having to defy the United Nations in the event it votes to discuss the question or eventually to intervene in it.

Forced by nationalist pressures to quit Egypt, Britain has made Cyprus into her Middle East military headquarters because it is the only bit of territory left to her in the region under the Union Jack. The British developed big air and land bases in Cyprus to protect Britain's strategic and commercial interests in the area. Britain has said firmly she has no intention of quitting the island.

Russians Begin Ft. Benning Visit

FT. BENNING, Ga., Aug. 29 (P)—Three cheerful, nattily dressed Russian army officers looking for all the world as if they wanted to make a lot of friends, came to Ft. Benning today.

Exuding the current "Love America" theme of the Soviets, the visitors greeted top Ft. Benning officials chummily and proceeded on a tour of the infantry school, during which they will inspect weapons and airborne demonstrations today and tomorrow.

When the delegation rolled up to outpost No. 1 at 10:55 a.m., their car was flanked fore and aft by large white armored cars.

Reporters could see armed men inside the vehicles and took them to be part of the Russian entourage.

However, a later check proved that the vehicles were Brinks armored cars delivering part of the monthly payroll for the huge Army post.

The delegation's visit marks the first tour of a key American post by Russian military personnel since World War II. The invitation to the post was a return courtesy for a recent visit of U. S. military personnel to a Soviet military installation in Moscow, the Army said.

Missing Radium Found

PARIS, Aug. 29 (P)—Searchers reinforced by specialists from the French atomic energy commission today found a cylinder containing a dangerous amount of radium. The 110 pound lead cylinder was located in a field adjoining the suburban factory from which it was reported missing last Thursday.

Half Of Big Oil Fire Evacuees Back In Homes

WHITING, Ind., Aug. 29 (P)—About half of some 1,700 persons evacuated from houses near the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) refinery fire Saturday moved back home today.

The blaze, which did damage estimated in excess of 10 million dollars, was burning itself out in a 10-acre shambles of melted and twisted storage tanks and refinery equipment.

A thinning pall of black smoke rose from the waning fire which destroyed about 10 per cent of the 1,660-acre refinery's storage and manufacturing plant. The loss in crude oil and products was unofficially estimated at 42 million gallons.

Funeral services were held for the two fatality victims, 3-year-old Richard Plewniak, killed by a flying chunk of metal in his bed, and Walter Rhea, 63, a refinery foreman who died of a heart attack.

Fire inspectors worked systematically checking sewers for danger before evacuees were permitted to start back to their homes. Police Chief James Mullaney said that the gasoline and oil in the sewer system had been largely flushed out by the tons of water from fire hoses. Manhole covers were removed by workmen to permit evaporation of fumes. Ninety-plus degree temperatures helped the process.

Late today, most explosive pockets were gone.

Baltimore Honors Youthful Speller

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (P)—When Gloria Lockerman appears on a television show tomorrow night to consider tackling the "$32,000 question," she will become an honorary Baltimore school teacher.

Mayor D'Alesandro has issued a proclamation to that effect which also recognizes the 12-year-old Negro girl as an "ambassador of education."

Gloria is assured of $16,000 for her spelling feats on past performances. She can try for $32,000 and go on for $64,000 if successful in the next attempt. The mayor's proclamation, to be handed to Gloria during the program in New York, credits her with doing "much to enhance the prestige of modern educational methods" through her "charming personality and ability."

Gloria has said she wishes to be a school teacher.

Two White Men Accused In Negro Youth's Kidnaping

GREENWOOD, Miss., Aug. 29 (P)—Sheriff George Smith charged two white men with kidnaping today in the abduction of a 15-year-old Negro boy from Chicago who made "ugly remarks" to a white woman.

The boy's whereabouts "is still the $64 question," Smith said. "I'm kinda scared there's been foul play."

He identified the two men charged as Roy Bryant, a storekeeper at the nearby Money, and Bryant's half-brother, J. W. Milam of Glendora.

A search continued for Emmett Louis Till of 6427 St. Lawrence St., Chicago. The boy was visiting an uncle, Mose Wright, in the small community of Money.

Tavernkeeper Is Shot To Death

LAUREL, Md., Aug. 29 (P)—Sam Elam, 55-year-old tavernkeeper, was shot to death today during a gun battle in his place of business on U. S. 1, just south of Laurel. State Police said Elam exchanged shots with another man before he was shot in the head. The man, who said he was from San Antonio, Texas, was arrested outside the tavern and taken to Waterloo Barracks for questioning about the gun duel.

A 45 caliber pistol was found beneath Elam's body, State Police said. Another gun, a 32-caliber pistol, also was found on the scene and was believed to be the death weapon.

Elam's body was found slumped behind the bar by his attorney, Woodrow A. Shriver of Washington, D. C. Shriver said he arrived at the tavern, the Oakcrest Inn, about mid-afternoon for a conference. Elam requested this morning.

He said he was told there had been a gun battle and went inside where he found the body. Shriver called State Police.

The case is being investigated by Detective Cpl. Robert Kuhns.

Baltimore Will Lift Lawn Sprinkling Curb

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (P)—Recent heavy rains and the approach of autumn will result in a lifting of Baltimore area lawn sprinkling restrictions next Thursday, water bureau officials said today.

An alternate day lawn sprinkling plan has been in force since mid-July in Baltimore and parts of surrounding counties.

Red Roadblocks To World Peace Cited By Nixon

BOSTON, Aug. 29 (P)—Vice President Nixon said today there are five roadblocks to world peace and that Soviet leaders alone have the power to remove them as a source of potential strife.

"But," he added, "if they act in the same spirit as they have talked, the beginning of the end of the cold war will be in sight."

Nixon told the Veterans of Foreign Wars at their 56th annual encampment that affability can be simulated but that the world wants to see "the cold facts, the hard deeds."

The next three or four months, he added, "will tell the world a great deal about Soviet intentions."

Nixon listed the roadblocks as:

1. "The unnatural division of Germany which is caused by the Soviet refusal to agree to free elections."

2. "The armaments race and the fear of surprise atomic attack which will continue until Soviet leaders agree to an adequate inspection system."

3. "The Iron Curtain of barbed wire, land mines and machineguns which they have erected through the middle of Europe."

4. "The colonial status of the Communist satellite states of Eastern Europe."

5. "The network of Moscow-directed Communist subversions and espionage which extends into every free country of the world."

Club Dancer Held In Mate's Shooting

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (P)—Police today held a 33-year-old night club dancer in the shooting of her husband who at first told police he had turned a gun on himself.

Officers, answering a call to the apartment of Francis Burley 33, early today found his wife, Rose Marie, pacing around the room and weeping.

Burley, wounded in the chest by a 38 caliber slug, was calmly smoking a cigarette.

Surgeons at Lutheran Hospital prepared to operate and said Burley's condition was satisfactory.

There was no immediate explanation for the shooting. Mrs. Burley is a dancer in an East Baltimore Street night spot.

New York Terminal To Serve Allegheny

A new $5,000,000 airlines terminal will open September 15 on New York's west side to serve Allegheny Airlines and six other passenger airlines flying in and out of Newark Airport, it was reported at the municipal airport here.

Opening of the West Side Airlines Terminal, now nearing completion on 42nd Street at Tenth Avenue, will eliminate the present cross-town trip of Newark Airport-bound passengers from the East Side Airlines Terminal.

The Newark field will be only 21 minutes from Manhattan via airport bus from the West Side Terminal. By comparison, LaGuardia is 25 minutes from the East Side Terminal and Idlewild 40 minutes away.

weather has been in the previous 24 hours. Now, his reports will include this data, but will also contain data which will be included in the overall area weather picture and forecast.

Because of the mountainous terrain in Western Maryland and adjacent West Virginia, weather forecasts, prepared largely for the Baltimore-Washington areas, did not always apply here.

It is believed, Golden said, that data assembled here in the mountains, may help the Weather Bureau arrive at much more accurate weather predictions and forecasts for this region.

A card party will be held at 8:30 tonight in the basement of St. Anthony's Church, Ridgeley.

Mrs. Armand L. Bengle, Jr., was her sister-in-law's matron of honor while Anne Marie Bengle and Claire Bengle, nieces, were her flower girls. Dr. L. Armand, Jr., served as Mr. Wright's best man and Robert A. Guastavino, John Revis, Commander Robert Weibel, USN, and Charles Boenke were the ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a blush pink antique silk taffeta gown, fashioned with deeply yoked neckline, basque bodice with scalloped panier waistline, elbow length, leg-of-mutton sleeves and bouffant skirt are appliqued with velvet leaves. Mrs. Bengle chose an Adele Simpson original, of delphinium blue with small velvet hat and matching accessories. Mrs. Wright selected a pale greyed pink taffeta with matching hat and accessories. The bride's paternal grandfather was a prominent merchant of Springfield, Mass., and the maternal great grandfather, Dr. Charles Julineau, was one of the pioneer physicians of Holyoke. Mrs. Wright is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, Springfield.

Mr. Wright, a frequent visitor here with his aunt, Miss Vera Paisley, is a graduate of Town School for Boys, San Francisco, and the University of San Francisco, and served three years in the United States Navy. He is employed by the Bechtel Corporation, San Francisco, as an engineer. His mother is the former Miss Helen Paisley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Donald Paisley, city.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bengle, Jr., Hillsborough, Calif. For their wedding trip to Carmel, Calif., the bride wore an electric blue shantung with white hat. Upon their return they will reside at 6900 Fulton Street, San Francisco.

State Trooper J. H. Smith Jr., who investigated, reported the other car involved was a 1950 Oldsmobile sedan operated by William Elton Lay, of Washington.

The officer said both cars were headed north, following a large truck. Trooper Smith said the Oldsmobile, in the rear, started to pass the Studebaker which at the same time started to pass the truck. Seventeen Die During August BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — More people have met death on the Pennsylvania Turnpike this month than in any month since the famed four-lane superhighway was opened 15 years ago.

Seventeen persons have been killed in traffic accidents this month.

The previous high toll was 14 in December 1950. That was before the 67-mile western extension of the turnpike was opened.

One accident this week took six lives when a car jumped the medial strip and plowed head on into another.

Capt. Singleton Sheaffer, head of the turnpike state police detail, told The Associated Press yesterday that 57 persons have been killed on the toll road so far this year compared with 32 in the similar period last year. In all of 1954 the death toll was 51. The all-time high was 91 in 1953.

Sheaffer said bad tires and above-normal rainfall — combined with human fallibility — were primarily responsible for the recent increase.

"We have a terrific headache with bad tires," he said. "People just don't seem to realize that you can't travel at high speeds on a slippery road with bad tires."

"There's not enough traction. Tires good enough for low speed driving just don't do the job on this road. And they (the drivers) won't slow down." The speed limit on most of the turnpike is 60 miles an hour for cars and 50 miles an hour for trucks.

He said state police are stepping up a drive against cars with bad tires and ordering them to leave the turnpike.

PARSONS — A 68-year-old Eg-lon, W. Va., woman died yesterday as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident Sunday on U. S. Route 219, two miles north of Parsons.

Victim of the mishap was Mrs. Lila Wilson Fike, wife of William Fike, who suffered severe head injuries, compound fracture of her left leg and fractured ribs. She died after being admitted to Tucker County Hospital, Parsons.

The fatality was the second this year in Tucker county, the first also occurring this month with the death of Jacob Norman on August 11.

Mrs. Fike was riding in the front seat of the car operated by Earl Moses Fike, 37, her stepson and a farmer and coal operator of Eg-lon. He sustained fractured ribs and was treated at Tucker County Hospital.

Fike told West Virginia State Police Trooper James Rightmire that he was traveling from Rightmire to Beckley when he ran into a patch of fog and hit the Roaring Run concrete bridge head on.

Others injured were Mrs. Elda Sue Fike, 36, wife of the driver, who suffered a fractured jaw, fractured ribs and possible neck injuries; Mrs. Martha Lucille Crowe, 48, multiple bruises about her body and William Fike, 70, dislocated hip.

A native of Williamsport, W. Va., Mrs. Fike was born July 7, 1887 and was a daughter of the late John L. and Ida Alice (Shaffer) Braddock.

Surviving are her husband, A. W. Fike, Eg-lon; three brothers, James Braddock, Moravian Falls, N. C.; Robert Braddock, Oakland, Md.; W. C. Braddock, Elk Grove, W. Va.

The body is at the residence. A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Label Springs Church of the Brethren.

Extension Of Sanders Street Asked

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday the city is not committed to the extension of George Street.

The Mayor spoke after a petition signed by 59 residents of Polk and Hanover Streets asked that Sanders Street be extended from Hanover to Polk. The petitioners pointed out since the city has decided to extend George Street from Frederick to Bedford Streets by purchasing the building housing the Potomac Produce Company, and because Sanders would then connect with George, they requested the extension.

Residents said the move would help alleviate traffic congestion at the B&O Railroad crossings.

Eves said the city had not committed itself to the George Street project. Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said the project would be a step in the right direction and added the city should try again to talk over acquisition of the produce company's property.

Previous talks before the fire which badly damaged the firm's building on Frederick Street, Keegan said, led the city to believe cost of the building prohibitive. He indicated a more satisfactory settlement might be reached now.

The matter was referred to the city attorney and city engineer, James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, said the George Street extension project has been studied by the commission for several years. One plan, he said, would include buying four properties but would still lead George Street into a dead end. Purchase of Potomac Fruit property and extending the street along the B&O might cost more, he added, but would be worth it in the long run.

Spending wisely now, Avirett said, would give the city a second main thoroughfare to North End (Centre Street is the present outlet) from the business district.

Mayor Says Court Mandate Sent To SRC On Expressway

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday said the city attorney's office has dispatched a copy of the mandate to the State Roads Commission in connection with the Cumberland expressway (crosstown bridge) project.

The mandate is official notification that the city has been upheld in entering into the contract for construction of the expressway. W. Wallace McKaig, local businessman, had sought by court action, to prevent the city from doing so.

The SRC said if the mandate is received, the contract may be signed at a meeting of the state road commissioners this evening. They will not meet again until after Labor Day, he said.

International Politics, Strange Bedfellows

Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japan's foreign minister, now in Washington conferring with Secretary of State Dulles, may at times wonder whether all this is real. Much water has flowed under the bridge since his last visit to the United States. It must occur to him that international politics makes strange bedfellows.

The last time Shigemitsu visited Washington was in 1941, when he was the Japanese ambassador to Britain. Since then his country has fought and disastrously lost a war, has abandoned military imperialism and become a limited monarchy with a policy based on peace, has given up expansionism and now seeks to exist in friendly cooperation with other states.

Shigemitsu, serving a different country and a different government, looking back on several years in prison as a war criminal, must wonder at the changes time has wrought—and especially at the close relations between Japan and the United States in this year of 1955.

But he must also have a strong feeling of respect for American foreign policy, which deserves credit for many of these changes. Toward this nation, which made the occupation of his country far from a curse even though he might not call it a blessing, he may entertain some feeling of gratitude.

The purpose of his visit here is not, as he has explained, to negotiate anything but to have a frank and free exchange of views on matters of mutual concern to Japan and the United States in the light of the present world situation. But it's no secret that he has some suggestions to discuss.

He would like to see all Japanese war criminals freed. He is understood to have in his pocket a six-year defense plan that would increase Japanese armed forces. Probably he would like clearer recognition of Japan's ownership of the Ryukyus and the Bonins.

Well-Known Organizations

Nobody can object to any group fighting for civil liberties of various kinds and a great many organizations exist for such purposes in the United States, as, for instance, the American Civil Liberties Union, the Anti-Defamation League, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, etc. These organizations have been long in existence and, preferred or opposed, they are well-known and understood.

The difference between these bodies and the Fund for the Republic, which the Ford Foundation established, is that whereas all the others are voluntary organizations of citizens who believe in a cause and set themselves up to fight for it and are subject to the criticism of their members and the withholding of support, the Fund for the Republic, on the other hand, consists of trustees and a hired office staff who are subject to no control, have no members, and have an enormous treasury which is income-tax free.

The actual manager of this operation is a former newspaper man, W. H. Ferry, familiarly known as "Ping" Ferry. "Ping" Ferry is reputed to be fanatically enthusiastic about whatever he does and has turned the Fund for the Republic into a kind of actions committee whose pattern may best be discerned by the following list of books, articles and other material which it has distributed widely with the object of influencing public opinion:

List of Materials
"Banned Books" by Anne Lyon Haight. Book. 275 distributed to May 31. Librarians and library trustees.
"Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists." Special issue on loyalty-security. 25,000 copies. Lists selected by publisher.

"Who 'Collaborated' With Russia?" by Paul Willen. Article. "Antioch Review." 600 copies. National Civil Liberties Clearing House.

The list is all one-sided. It is anti-FBI, anti-congressional committees investigating subversives. Certainly any citizens can be anti-FBI and anti-congressional committees. But the question arises: If rich corporations can set up tax-free foundations to propagate a particular point of view, is there not a possibility of limiting freedom of debate because no tax-free money is available for another point of view?

Loaded With The Failures Of Capitalism

Communist Cause In America Has Lucky Break

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Communist cause in America has had a lucky break. Though not so intended, of course, it turns out that $15,000,000 originally derived from the free-enterprise system through the diligent and inventive efforts of the late Henry Ford is now going to be used to help persuade the people of the United States that Communist activity in America has been insignificant and unimportant. Yet one of the main objectives of the Communists has been and is to destroy the system of private capitalism in our own country and to subvert the government of the United States and its institutions.

To be able to mobilize $15,000,000 to carry on a political propaganda and to put it in a fund which is exempt from paying income taxes is quite an achievement for any cause however well intentioned especially since up to now philanthropic foundations have not engaged openly in propaganda on political issues nor have they boldly announced that they are going to do so. Legally they have the right to espouse almost any cause and it certainly would seem logical that $15,000,000 of private funds would be forthcoming from somewhere else soon to uphold the cause of relentless opposition to the growth and spread of communism inside this country.

Biased Program of Objectives
The Ford Foundation gave $15,000,000 to the so-called "Fund for the Republic" and the first available report on what's going on, recently issued by the head of the fund, does not hesitate to exude a political flavor and to reveal the biased program of objectives in the various studies being financed. The report says:

"Many public actions have been taken and many political reputations have been built on assumptions about what the Communists in the United States have been able to accomplish and what they are doing at the present time. It has seemed useful to make some effort to discover whether or not these assumptions are well-founded."

Baering Down on The News

Old Happy Chandler ran for Kentucky's gubernatorial nomination like it was downhill all the way.

Picking the Democratic nomination in Kentucky is like waiting for the shooting season to open in a pet shop.

Happy will be elected sure as you're a foot wide at the pockets.

He can go right after the chewing gum under the governor's

Only mistake he made was running for the Senate in 1938 against Barkley. After Dear Alben trimmed him to size he got a coaching job teaching Singer's midgets the two-platoon system.

Cancer Of Lung Now Is More Easily Diagnosed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Cancer of the lung was not a common disease when I was a medical student. The cases we did see were far advanced and considered incurable. Nowadays, the rate is 20 or more times higher but the condition is not as difficult to diagnose nor is the outcome so hopeless.

This type of malignancy continues to make headlines because of its possible relationship to smoking.

Millions of people are concerned about this controversy because there are so many smokers and the fate of a large industry is at stake. Some authorities are convinced that tobacco is the culprit whereas others have their doubts.

Many more years of research and statistical analyses will be needed before the problem can be settled. Meanwhile, various irritants that we inhale are being investigated. These substances include coal tar, pitch, petroleum fumes, and other chemicals that pollute the air.

Cancer of the lung must be found early to effect cure. But diagnosis is not easy because the symptoms resemble ordinary bronchitis or smoker's irritation. The most common manifestation is cough that has a tendency to come and go, as though the person had repeated chest colds or attacks of flu.

Such coughs should not be disregarded, particularly if they change in character. Other signs are chest pain, shortness of breath, fatigue, and blood streaked sputum.

But these symptoms usually are neglected because they are considered too vague to demand medical care. The majority of physicians are of the opinion that periodic X-rays after the age of 40 provide the only way in which the early case can be uncovered. This may be done in connection with the anti-tuberculosis chest film campaign.

So long as the tumor remains localized in the chest, removal is possible. The operation is no longer experimental but it is a standard procedure and is being done every day in hospitals throughout the country. The use of hormones has proved somewhat disappointing.

Other remedies include radiation therapy and considerable work is being done at present with supervoltage via the radioactive cobalt bomb or machines that generate a million or more volts. Should the tumor become so extensive fluid accumulates in the chest cavity, radioactive gold offers temporary relief.

TOMORROW: Health education at school.

HERNIA IN INFANTS
Mrs. E. writes: What causes rupture in newborn babies?

REPLY
The usual hernia in the groin is caused by an imperfection in development. An umbilical hernia generally is temporary and represents residual weakness over the spot where the cord was attached.

STONE JOURNEY
D. J. writes: Could gallstones travel to the liver and become embedded there?

REPLY
Yes, and for this reason, the surgeon who removes a gall bladder makes a careful search of the area before he is convinced that all stray stones have been removed.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Congressmen Celler And Scott Rib Secretary Weeks About Testifying

By Tom McNamara

WASHINGTON—House hearings on WOC's (businessmen serving the government without compensation) became slightly hilarious as Chairman Manny Celler of New York endeavored to decode a letter from Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, in which Weeks was coy about testifying.

Weeks, who has a large number of WOC's in his department, was willing to appear "later," if the House committee let him choose the time. Rep. Celler shook his head perplexed, said the letter reminded him of the Alice in Wonderland story in which Alice asked the white queen for jam, but was told: "Jam yesterday, jam tomorrow but never jam today."

"So the secretary probably would appear yesterday and probably tomorrow, but never appear today," opined Celler, amid titters from spectators.

Sensing an appreciative audience, GOP Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania got into the act with a story about a man on his way to be hanged. The road to the gallows was muddy, causing concern that the execution might be delayed, but the doomed man told his escorts:

"Now, you fellows don't need to get in a tizzy about this here road. There ain't going to be a hanging till I get there."

Democratic Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey brought the hearing back to the business at hand, demanding to know whether Secretary Weeks was or was not going to be a witness.

"I don't know," groaned Celler. "If you can glean from what the secretary says that he will or will not appear, you are a better man than I am."

Still in a narrative mood, the New Yorker added:

"Years ago I got a wire from a very irate constituent who said, 'I demand to know forthwith whether you are for or against the draft.' I wired back, 'I certainly am.' I guess the secretary is in a similar position, but I still don't know where he stands."

This reminded Pennsylvania's Scott of another one:

"It is like the member of Congress who was talking for quite a while and someone asked, 'What is he talking about?' Another fellow replied, 'He didn't say.'"

That's how congressional hearings sometimes go. After the side excursions into the fields of Alice in Wonderland, capital punishment, selective service and congressional oratory, Chairman Celler redirected the committee to an investigation of the operations of WOC's.

Ike-Go-Round
President Eisenhower may call a special session of Congress in October to reconsider his stranded super-highway bill, but advisers say the President's biggest disappointment was congressional rejection of his atomic "peace ship" bill.

He bitterly complained to GOP Senate-House leaders, who were unable to put over the legislation: "I can understand how Congress might oppose the highway program on the public housing bill (which passed), because they were controversial in a sense. But there was nothing controversial, or shouldn't be, about this effort to promote better understanding and world peace by sending an atomic-spiry to overthrow the government of the United States. It constitutes an authoritarian dictatorship within the republic, demanding for itself the rights and privileges accorded to political parties, but denying to all others the liberties guaranteed by the Constitution."

Continuing Security Danger
"The Communist party is relatively small numerically and gives scant indication of capacity ever to attain its end by lawful political means. The peril inherent in its operations arises not from its numbers, but from its failure to acknowledge any limitation as to the nature of its activities, and its dedication to the proposition that the present constitutional government of the United States ultimately must be brought to ruin by any available means, including resort to force and violence. Holding that doctrine, its role as the agency of the hostile foreign power renders its existence a clear and present and continuing danger to the security of the United States. It is the means whereby individuals are seduced into the service of the world Communist movement, trained to do its bidding, and directed and controlled in the conspiratorial performance of their revolutionary services. Therefore the Communist party should be outlawed."

But the so-called "Fund for the Republic" with its $15,000,000 apparently is to try to prove by its studies that the American people are "remarkably intolerant of minority views" and that "a political party" in this country has merely been "identified with the 'enemy.'"

The word "enemy" is given in quotation marks in the report. Nowhere in it is there any statement that incontrovertible evidence has been presented to Congress and the courts showing how a conspiracy, financed and directed by a foreign government, has set up a political party as a front in America which has actually been used for treasonable purposes.

(Copyright, 1955, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Disadvantages Too
The conveniences of this sort of relationship are obvious. But it developed that there were disadvantages as well.

The deposed Ben-Youssef (actually a rather worldly type) became precisely what Morocco had hitherto lacked — a symbol of nationality acknowledged by all Moroccans. In short, the deposition of Ben-Youssef was precisely what was required to make Moroccan nationalism the formidable force it has now become.

Ever since Ben-Youssef was deposed, the situation has deteriorated steadily. Months ago, it became obvious that something had to be done, and in June, French Premier Edgar Faure sent Gilbert Grandval of Morocco as resident-general, with instructions to work out a plan of action.

Grandval is a brilliant and forceful man. He spent several weeks sounding out all shades of opinion — including the views of the Nationalist leaders, who had been jailed or exiled by the previous regime. He soon concluded that two policies were possible.

One was a policy of absolutely ruthless and brutal repression. But this, he warned the French government, while it might work for awhile, would lead to another Indochinese situation in the end. The second alternative was a policy of compromising with the Nationalists, while safeguarding French interests. Grandval advocated this choice.

Real Reforms Needed
But for such a policy to succeed, he warned, the thing must be done with decision and a certain dash. Ben-Youssef must immediately be brought back from his dusty boarding house in Madagascar to France and installed there in comfort and honor. Ben-Moulay Arafat must be replaced by a regency council approved by Ben-Youssef. And real, not fake, reforms, giving genuine power in internal af-airs to qualified Moroccan Nationalists, must immediately thereafter be put into effect.

Above all, Grandval warned, these things must be done before August 20, the second anniversary of the deposition of Ben-Youssef. Otherwise, there was sure to be bloodshed, which would make further rational negotiation difficult or impossible.

Premier Faure agreed with Grandval — indeed, he as much as said so to American Ambassador Douglas Dillon. But at precisely this point, the built-in paralysis of the French system began to operate.

Powerful economic and political interests here in Morocco threw their full weight against the Grandval plan. Equally powerful military and political leaders in France, like Gen. Juin and former Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, brought great pressure to bear against the Grandval policy. They were joined by members of Faure's own cabinet, like Defense Minister Pierre Koenig and, to a lesser extent, Foreign Minister Pinay. The French political system is such that this opposition was enough absolutely to inhibit any decisive action at all.

Futile Gestures
So transparent substitutes for real action were adopted. First, Ben-Moulay Arafat was asked to form a "representative" government, which everyone knew the unfortunate old man could not possibly do. Then the Nationalist leaders and other Moroccans were invited to Aix-les-Bains, to confer with French cabinet leaders — an equally futile gesture, since the views of all concerned have been known for months.

Meanwhile, August 20 has come and gone, and what Grandval foresaw has occurred. Although the responsible Moroccan Nationalists succeeded in preventing serious trouble in the big cities, where their authority is great, there was the most terrible violence in the countryside, where they have little power.

The result is already obvious. The extremists on both sides bid fair to take over. The responsible and moderate Nationalists, like Bouabid and Ben-Barka, are in serious danger of losing the leadership of the Nationalist movement to the most brutal terrorists, and no doubt ultimately to the Communists. At the same time, both here and in France, the hands of the French advocates of drowning Moroccan nationalism in a sea of blood have been greatly strengthened.

In short, since August 20, French North Africa has moved a long way toward becoming another Indochina. Perhaps the situation may still be saved, but no one here thinks it likely. And the pity of it is that decisive action by the French government only a few days ago would almost certainly have averted the danger. It might even have stabilized the situation here for a generation. Obviously the paralysis which is built into the French political system is a costly luxury.

Loaded With The Failures Of Capitalism

Communist Cause In America Has Lucky Break

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Communist cause in America has had a lucky break. Though not so intended, of course, it turns out that $15,000,000 originally derived from the free-enterprise system through the diligent and inventive efforts of the late Henry Ford is now going to be used to help persuade the people of the United States that Communist activity in America has been insignificant and unimportant. Yet one of the main objectives of the Communists has been and is to destroy the system of private capitalism in our own country and to subvert the government of the United States and its institutions.

To be able to mobilize $15,000,000 to carry on a political propaganda and to put it in a fund which is exempt from paying income taxes is quite an achievement for any cause however well intentioned especially since up to now philanthropic foundations have not engaged openly in propaganda on political issues nor have they boldly announced that they are going to do so. Legally they have the right to espouse almost any cause and it certainly would seem logical that $15,000,000 of private funds would be forthcoming from somewhere else soon to uphold the cause of relentless opposition to the growth and spread of communism inside this country.

Biased Program of Objectives

The Ford Foundation gave $15,000,000 to the so-called "Fund for the Republic" and the first available report on what's going on, recently issued by the head of the fund, does not hesitate to exude a political flavor and to reveal the biased program of objectives in the various studies being financed. The report says:

"Many public actions have been taken and many political reputations have been built on assumptions about what the Communists in the United States have been able to accomplish and what they are doing at the present time. It has seemed useful to make some effort to discover whether or not these assumptions are well-founded."

ed. The fund has made an appropriation to enable Professor Clinton Rossiter of Cornell University to carry out a definitive study of what the Communist party has amounted to and what it amounts to now."

This particular project thus far has been awarded about $285,000 but the Congress of the United States and the Federal Bureau of Investigation have spent many millions of dollars on that subject already. It takes, however, only a small amount of money to issue and get publicity for a report that seeks to discredit the anti-Communist inquiries and findings of the past by Congress. The "Fund for the Republic" report says:

"The accepted view of Communist activity in the United States rests in large part on evidence given in various contexts by a small number of witnesses. There has never been a sustained and rigorous analysis of the sum total of this material . . ."

Yearly Reports

Yet committees of Congress and the reports of the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on this very subject have been issued yearly for more than two decades. Only last year the Senate Foreign Relations Committee issued a document giving a digest of all the laws and regulations governing the internal security program. The chairman of the committee wrote in a preface to it:

"An impartial observer will note, too, that the effort to strengthen our internal security laws has also been subject very often to ridicule as constituting a 'mountain out of a mole hill,' and as allegedly too 'costly' to be justified."

"However, a look at modern history will show how a single spy, or dangerous dupe, e. g., a single traitor like Klaus Fuchs, can virtually change an entire pattern . . . in history by his service to the cause of international communism."

Rejecting the theory that the quantity of members of the Communist party or the number of witnesses before committees is a measure of the extent of the treason that the Communists encourage, the Congress of the United States just a year ago by overwhelming vote of both Democrats and Republicans wrote into the laws of the land the following declaration:

"The Congress hereby finds and declares that the Communist party of the United States, although purportedly a political party, is in fact an instrumentality of a conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States. It constitutes an authoritarian dictatorship within the republic, demanding for itself the rights and privileges accorded to political parties, but denying to all others the liberties guaranteed by the Constitution . . ."

Cancer Of Lung Now Is More Easily Diagnosed

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Cancer of the lung was not a common disease when I was a medical student. The cases we did see were far advanced and considered incurable. Nowadays, the rate is 20 or more times higher but the condition is not as difficult to diagnose nor is the outcome so hopeless.

This type of malignancy continues to make headlines because of its possible relationship to smoking.

Millions of people are concerned about this controversy because there are so many smokers and the fate of a large industry is at stake. Some authorities are convinced that tobacco is the culprit whereas others have their doubts.

Many more years of research and statistical analyses will be needed before the problem can be settled. Meanwhile, various irritants that we inhale are being investigated. These substances include coal tar, pitch, petroleum fumes, and other chemicals that pollute the air.

Cancer of the lung must be found early to effect cure. But diagnosis is not easy because the symptoms resemble ordinary bronchitis or smoker's irritation. The most common manifestation is cough that has a tendency to "come and go," as though the person had repeated chest colds or attacks of flu.

Such coughs should not be disregarded, particularly if they change in character. Other signs are chest pain, shortness of breath, fatigue, and blood streaked sputum.

But these symptoms usually are neglected because they are considered too vague to demand medical care. The majority of physicians are of the opinion that periodic X-rays after the age of 40 provide the only way in which the early case can be uncovered. This may be done in connection with the anti-tuberculosis chest film campaign.

So long as the tumor remains localized in the chest, removal is possible. The operation is no longer experimental but it is a standard procedure and is being done every day in hospitals throughout the country. The use

Congressmen Celler And Scott Rib Secretary Weeks About Testifying

By Tom McNamara

(Editors Note: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his usual column will be written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON—House hearings on WOC's (businessmen serving the government without compensation) became slightly hilarious as Chairman Manny Celler of New York endeavored to decode a letter from Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, in which Weeks was coy about testifying.

Weeks, who has a large number of WOC's in his department, was willing to appear "later," if the House committee let him choose the time. Rep. Celler shook his head perplexedly, said the letter reminded him of the Alice in Wonderland story in which Alice asked the white queen for jam, but was told: "Jam yesterday, jam tomorrow but never jam today."

"So the secretary probably would appear yesterday and probably tomorrow, but never appear today," opined Celler, amid titters from spectators.

Sensing an appreciative audience, GOP Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania got into the act with a story about a man on his way to be hanged. The road to the gallows was muddy, causing concern that the execution might be delayed, but the doomed man told his escorts:

"Now, you fellows don't need to get in a tizzy about this here road. There ain't going to be a hanging till I get there."

Democratic Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey brought the hearing back to the business at hand, demanding to know whether Secretary Weeks was or was not going to be a witness.

"I don't know," groaned Celler. "If you can glean from what the secretary says that he will or will not appear, you are a better man than I am."

Still in a narrative mood, the New Yorker added: "Years ago I got a wire from a very irate constituent who said, 'I demand to know forthwith whether you are for or against the draft.' I wired back, 'I certainly am.' I guess the secretary is in a similar position, but I still don't know where he stands."

This reminded Pennsylvania's Scott of another one: "It is like the member of Congress who was talking for quite a while and someone asked, 'What is he talking about?' Another fellow replied, 'He didn't say.'"

That's how congressional hearings sometimes go. After the side excursions into the fields of Alice in Wonderland, capital punishment, selective service and congressional oratory, Chairman Celler redirected the committee to an investigation of the operations of WOC's.

President Eisenhower may call a special session of Congress in October to reconsider his stranded super-highway bill, but advisers say the President's biggest disappointment was congressional rejection of his atomic "peace ship" bill. He bitterly complained to GOP Senate-House leaders, who were unable to put over the legislation: "I can understand how Congress might oppose the highway program on the public housing bill (which passed), because they were controversial in a sense. But there was nothing controversial, or shouldn't be, about this effort to promote better understanding and world peace by sending an atomicpowered, good-will ship to foreign ports. That's my responsibility as President."

Despite Ike's sincerity, Democrats feel that the atomic peace ship might have played a part in the 1956 presidential campaign. Democratic chiefs also are suspicious that some of Ike's politically minded White House aides are more interested in promoting votes for GOP candidates in the next election than they are in the peace potentials of the proposed atomic vessel . . . Ike's rebuttal to this is that Russia may beat us to the punch by launching an atom-powered "peace" ship of its own.

Roy Pays Off

The man who wrote the getting-away music for Congress—the resolution of adjournment—is a political neutral who isn't even a member of Congress. He is Assistant Parliamentary William T. "Bill" Roy, a staff official of the House of Representatives for more than 30 years.

Despite the key role he plays in adjourning the federal legislature, however, Roy confesses that he once lost a $10 wager on when Congress would quit.

"A fellow bet me ten bucks that I couldn't guess the date we would adjourn," recalls Roy. "I took him up as a joke, never intending to keep his money. You see, the speaker had told me the adjournment date and I had already written it into the resolution."

"However, as it turned out, I had to go through with the bet after all. The Senate crossed me up by putting a new adjournment date in the resolution the House passed. I couldn't tell the other fellow then that it was all a joke."

"I paid off, but it taught me a lesson never to bet on a 'sure thing,' whether it's a horse race or the adjourning of Congress."

The Price Of Paralysis

By Stewart Alsop

Either the French will somehow get rid of the built-in paralysis of their system of government, or all North Africa will go the way of Indochina. That is the main lesson of the tragedy which has been unfolding here.

Consider what has happened. Two years ago, a French military clique, acting more or less independently of the government, succeeded in getting rid of Moroccan Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben-Youssef, who had displayed a disquieting tendency to think for himself. Ben-Youssef was replaced as sultan by an elderly, agreeable fellow called Sidi Mohammed ben-Moulay Arafat.

Ben-Moulay Arafat's relationship with the French is best conveyed by the famous story of the menu. Shortly after Ben-Moulay Arafat was installed as sultan, Gen. Guillaume, then resident-general, gave him an official luncheon. When the guests sat down, Guillaume politely offered the menu for the sultan's inspection. Ben-Moulay Arafat immediately reached under his robes for an official seal and stamped the menu.

Disadvantages Too

The conveniences of this sort of relationship are obvious. But it developed that there were disadvantages as well. The deposed ben-Youssef (actually a rather worldly type) became precisely what Morocco had hitherto lacked—a symbol of nationality acknowledged by all Moroccans. In short, the deposition of ben-Youssef was precisely what was required to make Moroccan nationalism the formidable force it has now become.

Ever since ben-Youssef was deposed, the situation has deteriorated steadily. Months ago, it became obvious that something had to be done, and in June, French Premier Edgar Faure sent Gilbert Grandval of Morocco as resident-general, with instructions to work out a plan of action.

Grandval is a brilliant and forceful man. He spent several weeks sounding out all shades of opinion—including the views of the Nationalist leaders, who had been jailed or exiled by the previous regime. He soon concluded that two policies were possible.

One was a policy of absolutely ruthless and brutal repression. But this, he warned the French government, while it might work for awhile, would lead to another Indochinese situation in the ad. The second alternative was a policy of compromising with the Nationalists, while safeguarding French interests. Grandval advocated this choice.

Real Reforms Needed

But for such a policy to succeed, he warned, the thing must be done with decision and a certain dash. Ben-Youssef must immediately be brought back from his dusty boarding house in Madagascar to France and installed there in comfort and honor. Ben-Moulay Arafat must be replaced by a regency council approved by ben-Youssef. And real, not fake, reforms, giving genuine power in internal affairs to qualified Moroccan Nationalists, must immediately thereafter be put into effect.

Above all, Grandval warned, these things must be done before August 20, the second anniversary of the deposition of ben-Youssef. Otherwise, there was sure to be bloodshed, which would make further rational negotiation difficult or impossible.

Premier Faure agreed with Grandval—indeed, he as much as said so to American Ambassador Douglas Dillon. But at precisely this point, the built-in paralysis of the French system began to operate.

Powerful economic and political interests here in Morocco threw their full weight against the Grandval plan. Equally powerful military and political leaders in France, like Gen. Juin and former Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, brought great pressure to bear against the Grandval policy. They were joined by members of Faure's own cabinet, like Defense Minister Pierre Koenig and, to a lesser extent, Foreign Minister Pinay. The French political system is such that this opposition was enough absolutely to inhibit any decisive action at all.

Futile Gestures

So transparent substitutes for real action were adopted. First, ben-Moulay Arafat was asked to form a "representative" government, which everyone knew the unfortunate old man could not possibly do. Then the Nationalist leaders and other Moroccans were invited to Aix-les-Bains, to confer with French cabinet leaders—an equally futile gesture, since the views of all concerned have been known for months.

Meanwhile, August 20 has come and gone, and what Grandval foresaw has occurred. Although the responsible Moroccan Nationalists succeeded in preventing serious trouble in the big cities, where their authority is great, there was the most terrible violence in the countryside, where they have little power.

The result is already obvious. The extremists on both sides bid fair to take over. The responsible and moderate Nationalists, like Bouabid and ben-Barka, are in serious danger of losing the leadership of the Nationalist movement to the most brutal terrorists, and no doubt ultimately to the Communists. At the same time, both here and in France, the hands of the French advocates of drawing Moroccan nationalism in a sea of blood have been greatly strengthened.

In short, since August 20, French North Africa has moved a long way toward becoming another Indochina. Perhaps the situation may still be saved, but no one here thinks it likely. And the pity of it is that decisive action by the French government only a few days ago would almost certainly have averted the danger. It might even have stabilized the situation here for a generation. Obviously the paralysis which is built into the French political system is a costly luxury.

Sire Of Pacing Champs Is Sold For Record Sum

Hanover Farms Pays $500,000 For Adios

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 29 (AP)—The United States Trotting Assn. today reported the half million dollar sale of Adios, 15-year-old sire of pacing champions.

The USTA said the stallion was sold to Hanover Shoe Farms of Hanover, Pa., by Meadowlands Farm of Meadow Lans, Pa.

The sales figure is four times higher than the previous record for standardbred horses. Hanover Shoe Farms, owned by Lawrence B. Sheppard, president of the USTA, previously paid $125,000 in 1951 for Tar Heel, a 3-year-old pacer. The same amount was paid in 1891 for the trotter, Adion, by J. Malcolm Forbes of Milton, Mass.

Delvin Miller, proprietor of Meadowlands Farm, has owned Adios for the past six years. The horse had been a sensational success as a sire.

Adios Harry, a 4-year-old son of Adios, recently turned in the fastest race time in history in winning a mile event at Vernon, N.Y., in 1:55. Last year, Adios Harry won the Little Brown Jug, $70,000 racing classic. Adios Boy, another of Adios' progeny, set world records as a 2-year-old on both mile and half-mile ovals. Last year he was voted the outstanding 3-year-old pacer.

Money Problems Drove Taylor To Canadian League

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (AP)—Money problems drove Hugh (Bones) Taylor, great pass-catching end of the Washington Redskins, to a Canadian football contract with the Ottawa Rough Riders.

"Several things made me decide to come to Canada," the 6 foot 4 graduate of the University of Oklahoma City said today in an interview.

"But the main reason was financial," Taylor said. "Washington would not offer me what I thought I was worth. I knew the club paid more to other boys but absolutely refused to give more money after I led the club in scoring."

The 31-year-old veteran of eight seasons with the Redskins did not disclose what he was getting from Ottawa.

He said the club told him to make a deal for himself with another NFL club, but did not give him his release. So he came to Ottawa two weeks ago.

Joseph W. Hemmis, 111 Humbird street, second high point scorer in the nation, yesterday accepted an invitation to participate in the national motorcycle hill climbing championship events at Keene, N. H., Sunday.

Hemmis, 1954-55 high point champion, will be competing for national honors for the ninth consecutive year. He won one of the national tests in 1948 at Port Jervis, N.Y.

Joseph W. Hemmis finished second on two occasions and topped a number of third and fourth places in other nationals at Muskegon, Mich., and Bethlehem, Pa. His father, Clarence "Tan" Hemmis, swept both Class A events at the national championship meet in 1946 at Muskegon, Mich.

Invitations to the national championships go annually to the nation's twelve top professionals and amateurs. Clarence Harper, of Cumberland, will be eligible to vie in the amateur contests at Keene as he appears among the top 12 in that classification.

In the national point-scoring race, Howard Mitzell, York, Pa., veteran holds first place and Hemmis is the runner-up.

Hemmis and Mitzell shared top honors in the hill climb held Sunday in Pittsburgh.

Christensen Wins On TKO In Sixth

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—After absorbing a solid drubbing for five rounds, Denmark's Chris Christensen won on a technical knockout in six rounds over favored Gene Poirier of Niagara Falls, N. Y., at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

The bout was stopped at the end of the sixth round because of a large cut over Poirier's right eye. Poirier weighed 148, Christensen 147.

Dr. Alexander Schiff examined Poirier's bleeding wound at the finish of the sixth round and then signalled Referee Barney Felix to stop the fight. It goes into the books as a sixth round TKO.

and Andy Bacura, Pittsburgh, fourth in 8.78.

Mitzell topped the second Class A contest in 7.73 seconds with Hemmis, second, 8.12, Sam Kakabar, Braverdale, Pa., third 81.6 and Willard Bryan, fourth 8.24.

Nineteen pro cyclists participated.

Cumberland's Clarence Harper, riding a Harley Davidson, finished second to Lou Corrier, of Easton, Pa., in the amateur class.

Sire Of Pacing Champs Is Sold For Record Sum

Hanover Farms Pays $500,000 For Adios

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 29 (AP)—The United States Trotting Assn. today reported the half million dollar sale of Adios, 15-year-old sire of pacing champions.

The USTA said the stallion was sold to Hanover Shoe Farms of Hanover, Pa., by Meadowlands Farm of Meadow Lanes, Pa.

The sales figure is four times higher than the previous record for standardbred horses.

Lawrence B. Sheppard, president of the USTA, previously paid $125,000 in 1951 for Tar Heel, a 3-year-old pacer. The same amount was paid in 1891 for the trotter, Adrien, by J. Malcolm Forbes of Milton, Mass.

Delvin Miller, proprietor of Meadowlands Farm, has owned Adios for the past six years. The horse had been a sensational success as a sire.

Adios Harry, a 4-year-old son of Adios, recently turned in the fastest race time in history in winning a mile event at Vernon, N.Y., in 1:55. Last year, Adios Harry won the Little Brown Jug, $70,000 pacer classic. Adios Boy, another of Adios' progeny, set world records as a 2-year-old on both mile and half-mile ovals. Last year he was voted the outstanding 3-year-old pacer.

Money Problems Drove Taylor To Canadian League

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (AP)—Money problems drove Hugh (Bones) Taylor, great pass-catching end of the Washington Redskins, to a Canadian football contract with the Ottawa Rough Riders.

"Several things made me decide to come to Canada," the 6 foot 4 graduate of the University of Oklahoma City said today in an interview.

"But the main reason was financial," Taylor said. "Washington would not offer me what I thought I was worth. I knew the club paid more to other boys but absolutely refused to give more money after I led the club in scoring."

The 31-year-old veteran of eight seasons with the Redskins did not disclose what he was getting from Ottawa.

He said the club told him to make a deal for himself with another NFL club, but did not give him his release. So he came to Ottawa two weeks ago.

Wisconsin's Home Games Are Sellouts

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 29 (AP)—All University of Wisconsin home football games this fall are sellouts, Bill Aspinwall, athletic department business manager and ticket sales director, reported today.

Aspinwall said the sellout resulted because all remaining tickets for the opener, against Marquette Sept. 24, have been sold. Wisconsin has a five game home card, including Iowa Oct. 1, Ohio State Oct. 22, Michigan State Oct. 29 and Illinois Nov. 12.

Colts, Redskins Play Exhibition

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP)—The first real National Football League measurement of the Baltimore Colts will be provided tomorrow night in Memorial Stadium by the Washington Redskins.

The Colts lost 21-6 to Philadelphia on Aug. 13 but that was without the services of five rookies in the All-Star game. They also beat Fort Belvoir, Va., 61-0, after they returned, but that was hardly a good scrimmage test.

The Redskins, in addition to being Baltimore's "natural rival"

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

RELATIVITY
IN BRIDGE, even more than in other pursuits, everything is relative. A hand containing three aces and three or four kings may turn out to be worthless, whereas another hand containing no face cards may be all-powerful. Take the South hand below for example. When South picked up his cards he was fearful of an opposing slam, to say nothing of an opposing game, but a few moments later South was making a justified slam try of his own on that same near-Yarborough.

West started the proceedings off normally with one diamond. North countered with a two-diamond cue bid, announcing control of the suit and an overall hand of great power. East had nothing constructive to say. South made the obvious response, two spades, and after West had passed (with obvious reluctance), North jumped to game at spades. It is to be feared that a great many (if not most) of the players who might hold South's cards would gladly accept the four-spade contract, and hope they would make it. The actual South, however—an expert with an exceptional partner—did not pass. Realizing that despite his lack of aces, kings and queens, he had a much better holding than North could have expected, he felt that he should announce that fact. South's only bid up to that point had been forced, and for all North could tell South might have perfectly normal distribution, with any number of losers. Thus, South's actual holding of a six-card suit, a doubleton heart, and no clubs, certainly warranted consideration. So South bid five clubs as an obvious announcement of first-round control in that suit, and after that it was elementary for North to bid six spades—which of course was ironclad.

The bidding:

| West | North | East | South |
|------|-------|------|-------|
| 1♦ | 2♦ | Pass | 2♠ |
| Pass | 4♠ | Pass | 5♣ |
| Pass | 6♠ | Pass | Pass |

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (INS)—My news this morning concerns the formation of an independent company by Harriet Parsons, who has been a contract producer at R.K.O. for 12 years. Her first announcement is extremely interesting inasmuch as she has acquired the life story of Mickey Walker, one of the most colorful figures in the sports world. She may make the Walker story on the R.K.O. lot. Few stories in the fight world have the dramatic impact and human interest of the Walker saga, and Douglas Morrow, Academy Award winner, who is associated in the venture, has written a most interesting treatment. So interesting, in fact, that Gordon MacRae has expressed interest in the Walker role. The only woman producer in the business who is a member of the Screen Producers Guild, Miss Parsons (I call her Harriet) has such pictures to her credit as "I Remember Mama," "Enchanted Cottage," "Clash by Night," and "Susan Slept Here," which is playing to capacity houses. "Enchanted Cottage" recently re-released, is still playing around the country 10 years after its debut. Doris Day, who just finished "The Man Who Knew Too Much," with Jimmy Stewart for Alfred Hitchcock, joins the brigade of Hitchcock fans. "We had a farewell dinner, and Hitch said he wanted me to work for him again, and I want to," Doris said, sounding like a little girl and exactly as if she isn't about the hottest actress these days. "Do you know Hitch said 'The Man Who Knew Too Much' in English? It was a triumph!"

More than appearance is improved when clothes are perfectly fitted.

Secrets Of Charm

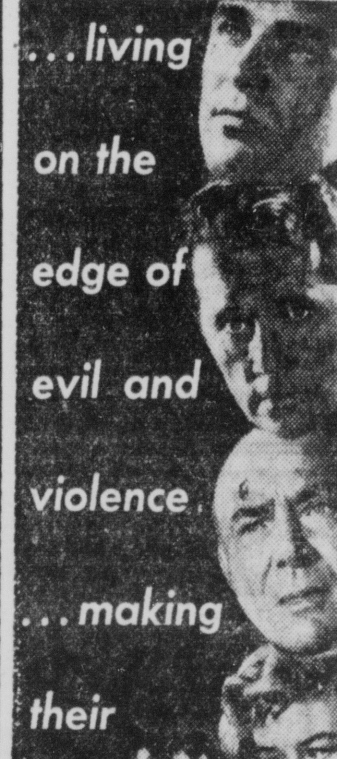

by John Robert Powers

In everything you wear, nothing is less than a perfect fit is fit for you. A bad fit does harm all out of proportion. You can't look good, you don't feel right, and self-assurance dips. Even with their beautiful figures, Powers models take fittings and alterations as a matter of course. Not only for the clothes they wear in fashion shows, but for their own wardrobes. They believe it's better every time to buy a less expensive dress and have it perfectly fitted, than it is to splurge on an expensive one and try to get by with it as it is or with inadequate alterations. That you can look wonderfully well-dressed in simple, well-chosen, perfectly fitted clothes that don't tax the budget. These busy career girls have their feet too much on the ground not to know the value of a properly fitted shoe. With all they do in a day, they must be able to forget their feet. And they learn early not to underestimate a good fit in undergarments, that the appearance of a dress or suit surely begins with what's underneath. Uneasy gestures are the unattractive ones, and clothing that isn't exactly proportioned to you causes so many of them. You can't look serene and charming when you're pulling down a skirt that rides up, or adjusting a gap-

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

RELATIVITY
IN BRIDGE, even more than in other pursuits, everything is relative. A hand containing three aces and three or four kings may turn out to be worthless, whereas another hand containing no face cards may be all-powerful.

More than appearance is improved when clothes are perfectly fitted.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In everything you wear, nothing gains in graceful manner, as well as in appearance, when you pay strict attention to details of fit.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints.

Trio Is Tried For Area Coal Mines Thefts

Man, Two Boys Get Terms Suspended

A 50-year-old man, his 12-year-old son and a 15-year-old youth, all from Slabtown, yesterday were tried in Juvenile Court on charges resulting from several thefts and considerable damage to three area coal mines this month.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man to six months in the Maryland House of Correction on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of the minor boys, but suspended the term on condition he make restitution of all damages to the mine owners.

Both boys, charged with being delinquent minors, were sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys, but both were placed on probation by Magistrate Baron.

Equipment Stolen

County Investigator Edwin R. Lila and Sgt. William F. Baker, Maryland State Police criminal investigator, arrested the man and the two youths following complaints received from three mine owners in the area of considerable amount of mine equipment and tools being stolen as well as a great deal of damage done to equipment at the mines.

Lila said yesterday that the two boys admitted taking the tools and equipment used to running coal cars off the end of tipples, wrecking cars in the entrances of the mine and to tearing up tracks and spilling coal at the mines.

The tools and equipment taken from the mines were put in the one boy's father's car and taken to Midlothian where it was sold for junk by the father.

Some Sold As Junk

Lila and Baker recovered some of the stolen tools, they said, but much of the pilfered equipment was smashed beyond repair and sold as junk. No estimate of the amount of stolen property was given by authorities, but the mine owners said more than $150 worth of damage was done at the mines.

Joseph M. Minke, regional game warden, also testified at the hearing in Juvenile Court, noting that the area where much of the vandalism and stealing was done is a state game preserve where no trespassing is allowed.

City To Order Raises In Pay

An order authorizing a 10 per cent increase for most city employees will be introduced at next Tuesday's meeting of the Mayor and City Council, Mayor Roy C. Eves said yesterday.

The pay raise was provided for in the budget approved last Wednesday and will cost the city approximately $78,000, according to City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson. Eves said the pay hike will be retroactive to July 1 when the city's fiscal year began and will be included in pay checks to be issued September 15. Because authorization for the raise has not yet been ordered the increase will not be included in pay checks to be issued Thursday.

Setting Up New Weather Station

Robert R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park and official United States Weather observer for this area, is shown at the right, as he and a neighbor Willis Brown, assemble an anemometer at the park's weather station. Brown, an expert on electronics volunteered to help Golden install some of the new equipment sent here to develop more accurate weather forecasts. The local station will report weather data three times a day to the US Weather Bureau, beginning September 1.

Local Weather Station Will Advance To A-Type

In order to provide more accurate and detailed weather reports for Cumberland and the immediate vicinity, the United States Weather Bureau is adding equipment to the observatory in Constitution Park, and has assigned Robert R. Golden as its official part-time recorder and weather observer.

Yesterday, G. N. Brancata, meteorologist in charge of the US Weather Station at Friendship Airport in Baltimore, visited Golden, discussed with him the need for equipment and outlined reporting methods and other information. Some of the equipment has already been received and assembled and other items will be sent immediately, Brancata said.

Cumberland has been a climatological station since July 1, 1947 for making daily temperature reports. Beginning Wednesday, September 1, the Constitution Park observatory will be officially designated as an A-Type Second Order Station of the United States Weather Bureau.

Brancata said Golden has proved to be an excellent observer and recorder, and his interest, together with the need for more detailed information from this mountainous region, led to the step in improving local weather reports. Further development can be anticipated in the future, he indicated. Under the new program, Golden will make three reports to Baltimore daily, instead of the daily report he has made since 1947. His new reports will include, in addition to high and low temperatures, humidity readings and rainfall, as reported in the past, such items as wind direction and velocity, visibility, barometer readings, clouds, and cloud formations, snow on the ground and snowfall, rain, rainfall and the dew point.

In the parlance of weathermen, the report will advance from "general" to "detailed", and will be officially recorded three times daily instead of once. The reports as issued by Golden, taken from his instruments and observations, will be official, since US Weather Bureau instruments are to be used, and the station is an authorized one.

Golden said the report sounds involved and detailed, but actually, data can be assembled from the instruments within a few minutes.

Golden has been interested in weather observation since he was a small boy, and has made a hobby of the study of weather, weather conditions and its scientific observation.

He noted last night, that in the past, his official reports have done little more than record what was (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Sen. Beall Holds Record For Supporting President

Senator J. Glenn Beall (R-MD.) maintained his 83rd Congress leadership among Maryland and Virginia congressmen, of both parties, in support of President Eisenhower's legislative program in the first session of the 84th Congress, Congressional Quarterly has reported. On 52 roll calls which the report said test the President's support in the Senate, Beall voted in agreement with the President's position on 88 per cent of them, and against Mr. Eisenhower's position on 10 per cent.

Wins Most Tests
Among the Maryland and Virginia delegations, Rep. Joel T. Brohill (R-Va.) gave the Chief Executive second best support. On 41 test votes in the House, Brohill voted with the President's position 80 per cent of the time, against 15 per cent.

Beall gave the President 86 per cent back in the previous 83rd Congress, topping them, too, all other Maryland and Virginia members. Brohill's pro-Keese score in the 83rd was 83 per cent. Congress generally supported Mr. Eisenhower "less enthusiastically" this year than 1953-4, the Quarterly said. Despite the slip, the President won 75 per cent of the 1955 roll call tests, compared with 83 per cent for the previous Congress. On foreign policy votes,

Mill Run Youth Sentenced On Morals Charge

Edward Martin, 18, Is Given Year Term

An 18-year-old Westernport area youth yesterday was sentenced to one year in the Maryland House of Correction by Magistrate Morris Baron in Juvenile Court for contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

Edward Ray Martin of Mill Run was arrested Thursday night by State Trooper Harry Bosley after a warrant was issued by Magistrate Donald W. Mason against the youth, charging him with statutory rape of a 12-year-old former Westernport girl.

However, the State's Attorney's office, after getting signed statements from both the boy and girl that they had spent several days together in an abandoned farm house on a nearby mountainside, said that investigation indicated the girl was as much a party to the affair as was Martin.

The statutory rape charge was dropped and instead a contributing charge was placed against Martin in Juvenile Court.

The girl was placed on probation in the custody of her father, who just recently moved to Ohio where he obtained employment.

Authorities said the incident occurred when the girl returned to Westernport for a visit while her father made arrangements to move his family to Ohio. It came to light when the boy and girl were reported missing from their homes last week.

GRANTSVILLE — The Grantsville Rotary Club will hold its annual family picnic today at New Germany. The picnic takes the place of the regular weekly dinner meeting.

Last week, at the dinner meeting in Hill Top Inn, the guest speaker was F. Allan Weatherholt of the Cumberland News editorial staff. He spoke on "Technological Advancements in the Field of Printing and Publishing".

Virginia Ave. Home Razed For Parking

A large frame residence on the south side of the Virginia Avenue School has been razed to make room for a parking lot for customers of the Cumberland Electric Company.

Elimination of the house will result in more daylight in the school rooms on that side of the building. The space will be blacktopped to provide space for 20 cars on the lot.

Food Registration Set

Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, will take applications today from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Legion Home for surplus foods to be distributed during September, according to Roland Showers, commander.

County School Buses, Cars, Are Inspected

Results Termed As Satisfactory

The pre-school inspection of buses and passenger cars used in the transported program of Allegheny County public schools was made recently under the direction of Arthur G. Ramey, transportation supervisor for the county schools.

He was assisted by Dave Davis, of Frostburg, who checked the mechanical and other features of each vehicle. A total of 98 buses and 10 passenger cars, comprising the fleet which operates in the county, were inspected.

"The inspection was one of the most pleasing and satisfactory that I have experienced in the years I have been associated with this feature of the county school program," Ramey stated.

Congratulates Owners

"The contractor-owners are to be congratulated for having the equipment, for the most part in tip-top condition."

Of the 98 buses, no less than 77 were given a clean bill of health. This is about 80 per cent of the buses, Ramey pointed out.

Of the 21 which were "fouled," 15 faults were marked against some one or more of the required signal lights. Such faults can easily be corrected, he added.

Two were faulted on steering mechanisms, and four were faulted on loose connections between the muffler and tail pipe or similar situation. Of the 10 passenger cars inspected, only one was faulted in any way and that was rear stop light. The other nine were satisfactory.

The owners of the buses which were fouled on one or more points have been notified to have corrections made promptly. The legal aspect of this is "correct within 10 days, and report the corrections made," to the Board of Education.

Thus every piece of equipment should be in top operating condition when schools open next Tuesday.

In keeping with the regulations of the Board of Education, seven new buses will be in the county fleet this school year, replacing buses whose age had reached the limit of years in operation permitted by county and state regulations.

Officer Hurt As Car Goes Out Of Control

Officer Joseph Harvey, about 25, of 532 Maryland Avenue, was injured late last night when the car he was driving went out of control and crashed in the 1700 block of Frederick Street.

He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for treatment of head injuries suffered in the crash.

The vehicle, they said, jumped the curb, hit a dirt embankment and overturned.

Officer Harvey was unable to escape from the vehicle but was extricated when Detective Joseph Stichter, and Officers Kenneth Morrissey and Wilbur Shank arrived on the scene.

An occupant of the vehicle, Walter Robinette, 20, of 18 Oak Street, was uninjured and helped police to extricate officer Harvey.

Bicentennial Gets Magazine Publicity

Cumberland's Bicentennial celebration received publicity in this month's issue of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad magazine.

Also in the picture are John K. Randall, second prize winner, and Boyd Dawson, who took third place honors. Miss Long's Poster, "Travel Down Through the Years," featured a B&O Diesel.

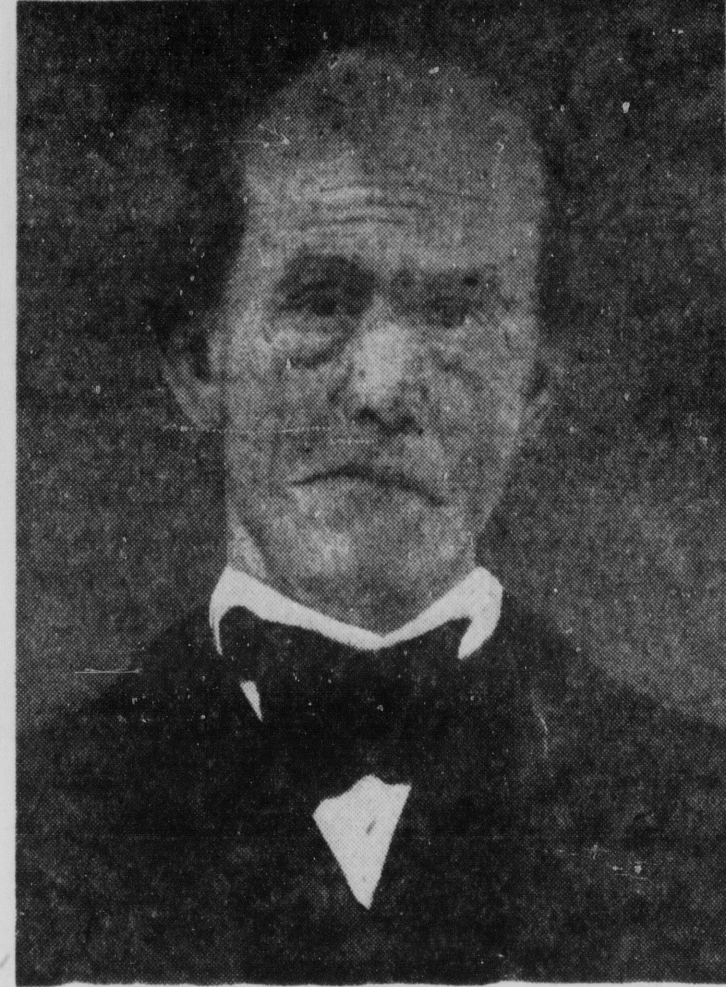

Two Local Men Join U. S. Marines

Two local men have been accepted for Marine Corps enlistment at the local Marine Corps recruiting station and are now taking their boot training at Parris Island, S. C.

They are David Clay Robinette, 609 Maryland Avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leonard Robinette, and Benjamin Hugh Dorsey Jr., Homewood Addition. Both enlistments are for four years.

Laid Out City Streets

The Bicentennial has brought to light many treasured family possessions, and among the most rare and probably the most valuable is this early picture of Thomas B. Beall, surveyor who laid out the first streets of Cumberland in 1784. Known in history as Thomas Beall of Samuel, he came here from Scotland as a young boy. He was married to Sarah Rice and settled in Cumberland among the earliest inhabitants. He died at the age of 83 and is buried in a small cemetery off Baltimore Pike. Three grandchildren are living in this area. They are Thomas B. Beall, 604 Maryland Avenue; Mrs. Edward Jenkins, 469 Williams Street; and Mrs. Theodore Haines, Hyndman, Miss Mildred Jenkins and Mrs. Kirk (Olive L.) Richardson, 469 Williams Street, are great-grandchildren. The picture is an old-time tintype or "iron plate," as it was known in its day.

Red Cross Renews Appeal For Flood Relief Funds

About $700 has been received by the Allegheny County Red Cross Chapter in its special flood relief appeal, Mrs. Lee Witherup said yesterday, leaving this county far from its quota of $2,700 in the nation-wide appeal. The initial report is very encouraging, the executive secretary said, and shows that many people here are willing to help.

When it is recalled that the National Red Cross spent over $36,000 in funds in Cumberland after the 1936 disastrous flood here, Mrs. Witherup said, the nominal request from the local chapter should be met easily and quickly.

Reports sent to the local Red Cross office, giving a picture of the damage in the stricken area, clearly show why the Red Cross had to make an emergency drive for funds.

Thousands Homeless

The latest accurate summary of the situation shows that thousands are homeless and property damage is exceeding earlier estimates.

In Connecticut, the Red Cross tabulation shows 87 injured, 78 hospitalized, 408 homes destroyed, 2,523 homes had major damage, 6,838 homes had minor damage, and 4,681 families registered for assistance.

In Massachusetts, six are hospitalized, 99 homes are destroyed, 336 homes had major damage, 817 homes had minor damage and 1,250 families registered.

In New Jersey, one victim was hospitalized, 53 homes were destroyed, 138 homes had major damage; 247 homes had minor damage, and 540 families need assistance.

In New York, two persons were hospitalized, two homes and 35 trailers were destroyed, 100 homes experienced major damage, 700 homes had minor damage, and 450 families registered.

Pennsylvania, hardest hit, had 387 injured with 44 hospitalized; 350 homes were destroyed, 1,879 homes had major damage, 5,810 homes had minor damage, and 3,465 families registered for help.

In Rhode Island there were none hospitalized but 13 homes were destroyed, 59 homes had major damage, 290 homes had minor damage and 650 families needed help.

These totals amount to 474 injured, 131 hospitalized, 960 homes destroyed, 5,035 homes had major damages, 14,702 homes had minor damages, and 11,036 families needed help.

The National Red Cross Chapter note that a more extensive and complete survey of the situation might reveal still mounting damage and need. There are 260 National Red Cross disaster specialists and thousands of volunteers working through 58 local chapters to bring relief and rehabilitation to the flood sufferers.

Other Countries Aid

From all parts of the world, messages of sympathy have been received by the National Red Cross. Members of the Austrian Junior Red Cross sent by air 1,000 emergency kits containing personal items for use of the disaster sufferers. Netherlands Red Cross sent 100 family parcels as a token of friendship.

Offers of assistance have come from Great Britain, Canada, France, Australia, and Venezuela.

However, the American Red Cross, through its national chapter believes that the generosity of the American people will provide enough money to meet the multi-million dollar emergency.

Mrs. Witherup said, "in an area like Cumberland, which knows and understands floods and the hardship which they bring, we of the Allegheny County Chapter believe that our quota will be over-subscribed by our generous people."

The quota is a chapter proposition she said, and the county's branch chairman at Frostburg, Lonaconing, Mr. Savage, Eckhart, Midland, Barton, Ridgeley and Westernport, will accept flood relief gifts, or they can be sent directly to the Red Cross, Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md.

Trio Is Tried For Area Coal Mines Thefts

Man, Two Boys Get Terms Suspended

A 50-year-old man, his 12-year-old son and a 15-year-old youth, all from Slabtown, yesterday were tried in Juvenile Court on charges resulting from several thefts and considerable damage to three area coal mines this month.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man to six months in the Maryland House of Correction on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of the minor boys, but suspended the term on condition he make restitution of all damages to the mine owners.

Both boys, charged with being delinquent minors, were sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys, but both were placed on probation by Magistrate Baron.

Equipment Stolen

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Sgt. William F. Baker, Maryland State Police criminal investigator, arrested the man and the two youths following complaints received from three mine owners in the area of considerable amount of mine equipment and tools being stolen as well as a great deal of damage done to equipment at the mines.

Lilya said yesterday that the two boys admitted taking the tools and equipment used to running coal cars off the end of tipples, wrecking cars in the entrances of the mine and to tearing up tracks and spilling coal at the mines.

The tools and equipment taken from the mines were put in the one boy's father's car and taken to Middlethorpe where it was sold for junk by the father.

Some Sold As Junk

Lilya and Baker recovered some of the stolen tools, they said, but much of the pilfered equipment was smashed beyond repair and sold as junk. No estimate of the amount of stolen property was given by authorities, but the mine owners said more than $150 worth of damage was done at the mines.

Joseph M. Minke, regional game warden, also testified at the hearing in Juvenile Court, noting that the area where much of the vandalism and stealing was done is a state game preserve where no trespassing is allowed.

Eves said the pay hike will be retroactive to July 1 when the city's fiscal year began and will be included in pay checks to be issued September 15. Because authorization for the raise has not yet been ordered the increase will not be included in pay checks to be issued Thursday.

Setting Up New Weather Station

Robert R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park and official United States Weather observer for this area, is shown at the right, as he and a neighbor Willis Brown, assemble an anemometer at the park's weather station. Brown, an expert on electronics volunteered to help Golden install some of the new equipment sent here to develop more accurate weather forecasts. The local station will report weather data three times a day to the US Weather Bureau, beginning September 1.

Local Weather Station Will Advance To A-Type

In order to provide more accurate and detailed weather reports for Cumberland and the immediate vicinity, the United States Weather Bureau is adding equipment to the observatory in Constitution Park, and has assigned Robert R. Golden as its official part-time recorder and weather observer.

Yesterday, G. N. Brancata, meteorologist in charge of the US Weather Station at Friendship Airport in Baltimore, visited Golden, discussed with him the need for equipment and outlined reporting methods and other information. Some of the equipment has already been received and assembled and other items will be sent immediately, Brancata said.

Cumberland has been a climatological station since July 1, 1947 for making daily temperature reports. Beginning Wednesday, September 1, the Constitution Park observatory will be officially designated as an A-Type Second Order Station of the United States Weather Bureau.

Will Improve Reports

Brancata said Golden has proved to be an excellent observer and recorder, and his interest, together with the need for more detailed information from this mountainous region, led to the step in improving local weather reports. Further development can be anticipated in the future, he indicated.

Under the new program, Golden will make three reports to Baltimore daily, instead of the daily report he has made since 1947. His new reports will include, in addition to high and low temperatures, humidity readings and rainfall, as reported in the past, such items as wind direction and velocity, visibility, barometer readings, clouds, and cloud formations, snow on the ground and snowfall, rain, rainfall and the dew point.

In the parlance of weathermen, the report will advance from "general" to "detailed," and will be officially recorded three daily instead of once. The reports as issued by Golden, taken from his instruments and observations, will be official, since US Weather Bureau instruments are to be used, and the station is an authorized one.

Golden said the report sounds involved and detailed, but actually, data can be assembled from the instruments within a few minutes.

Is Long-Time Hobby

Golden has been interested in weather observation since he was a small boy, and has made a hobby of the study of weather, weather conditions and its scientific observation.

He noted last night, that in the past, his official reports have done a little more than record what the weather was.

Sen. Beall Holds Record For Supporting President

Senator J. Glenn Beall (R-MD.) maintained his 83rd Congress leadership among Maryland and Virginia congressmen, of both parties, in support of President Eisenhower's legislative program in the first session of the 84th Congress, Congressional Quarterly has reported.

On 52 roll calls which the report said the President's support in the Senate, Beall voted in agreement with the President's position on 88 per cent of them and against Mr. Eisenhower's position on 10 per cent.

Wins Most Tests

Among the Maryland and Virginia delegations, Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va.) gave the Chief Executive second best support. On 41 test votes in the House, Broyhill voted with the President's position 80 per cent of the time, against it 15 per cent.

Beall gave the President 86 per cent back in the previous 83rd Congress, topping them, too, all other Maryland and Virginia members. Broyhill's pro-Ike score in the 83rd was 83 per cent.

Congress generally supported Mr. Eisenhower "less enthusiastically" this year than 1953-4, the Quarterly said. Despite the slip, the President won 75 per cent of the 1955 roll call tests, compared with 83 per cent for the previous Congress. On foreign policy votes,

Mill Run Youth Sentenced On Morals Charge

Edward Martin, 18, Is Given Year Term

An 18-year-old Westernport area youth yesterday was sentenced to one year in the Maryland House of Correction by Magistrate Morris Baron in Juvenile Court for contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

Edward Ray Martin of Mill Run was arrested Thursday night by State Trooper Harry Bosley after a warrant was issued by Magistrate Donald W. Mason against the youth, charging him with statutory rape of a 12-year-old former Westernport girl.

However, the State's Attorney's office, after getting signed statements from both the boy and girl that they had spent several days together in an abandoned farm house on a nearby mountainside, said that investigation indicated the girl was as much a party to the affair as was Martin.

The statutory rape charge was dropped and instead a contributing charge was placed against Martin in Juvenile Court.

The girl was placed on probation in the custody of her father, who just recently moved to Ohio where he obtained employment.

Authorities said the incident occurred when the girl returned to Westernport for a visit while her father made arrangements to move his family to Ohio. It came to light when the boy and girl were reported missing from their homes last week.

County School Buses, Cars, Are Inspected

Results Termed As Satisfactory

The pre-school inspection of buses and passenger cars used in the transported program of Allegany County public schools was made recently under the direction of Arthur G. Ramey, transportation supervisor for the county schools.

He was assisted by Dave Davis, of Frostburg, who checked the mechanical and other features of each vehicle. A total of 98 buses and 10 passenger cars, comprising the fleet which operates in the county, were inspected.

"The inspection was one of the most pleasing and satisfactory that I have experienced in the years I have been associated with this feature of the county school program," Ramey stated.

Congratulates Owners

"The contractor-owners are to be congratulated for having the equipment, for the most part in tip-top condition."

Of the 98 buses, no less than 77 were given a clean bill of health. This is about 80 per cent of the buses, Ramey pointed out.

Of the 21 which were "fouled," 15 faults were marked against some one or more of the required signal lights. Such faults can easily be corrected, he added.

Two were faulted on steering mechanisms, and four were faulted on loose connections between the muffler and tail pipe or similar situation. Of the 10 passenger cars inspected, only one was faulted in any way and that was rear stop light. The other nine were satisfactory.

The owners of the buses which were fouled on one or more points have been notified to have corrections made promptly. The legal aspect of this is "correct within 10 days, and report the corrections made," to the Board of Education.

Thus every piece of equipment should be in top operating condition when schools open next Tuesday.

In keeping with the regulations of the Board of Education, seven new buses will be in the county fleet this school year, replacing buses whose age had reached the limit of years in operation permitted by county and state regulations.

Officer Hurt As Car Goes Out Of Control

Officer Joseph Harvey, about 25, of 532 Maryland Avenue, was injured late last night when the car he was driving went out of control and crashed in the 1700 block of Frederick Street.

He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for treatment of head injuries suffered in the crash.

The vehicle, they said, jumped the curb, hit a dirt embankment and overturned.

Officer Harvey was unable to escape from the vehicle but was extricated when Detective Joseph Stitzer, and Officers Kenneth Morrissey and Wilbur Shank arrived on the scene.

An occupant of the vehicle, Walter Robinette, 20, of 18 Oak Street, was uninjured and helped police to extricate officer Harvey.

The Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday, September 11, at Bowman's Addition fire hall instead of this coming Sunday.

Laid Out City Streets

The Bicentennial has brought to light many treasured family possessions, and among the most rare and probably the most valuable is this early picture of Thomas B. Beall, surveyor who laid out the first streets of Cumberland in 1784. Known in history as Thomas Beall of Samuel, he came here from Scotland as a young boy. He was married to Sarah Rice and settled in Cumberland among the earliest inhabitants. He died at the age of 83 and is buried in a small cemetery off Baltimore Pike. Three grandchildren are living in this area. They are Thomas B. Beall, 604 Maryland Avenue; Mrs. Edward Jenkins, 469 Williams Street, and Mrs. Theodore Haines, Hyndman, Miss Mildred Jenkins and Mrs. Kirk (Olive L.) Richardson, 469 Williams Street, are great-grandchildren. The picture is an old-time tintype or "iron plate," as it was known in its day.

Red Cross Renews Appeal For Flood Relief Funds

About $700 has been received by the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter in its special flood relief appeal. Mrs. Lee Witherup said yesterday, leaving this county for its quota of $2,700 in the nation-wide appeal. The initial report is very encouraging, the executive secretary said, and shows that many people here are willing to help.

When it is recalled that the National Red Cross spent over $36,000 in funds in Cumberland after the 1936 disastrous flood here, Mrs. Witherup said, the nominal request from the local chapter should be met easily and quickly.

Reports sent to the local Red Cross office, giving a picture of the damage in the stricken area, clearly show why the Red Cross had to make an emergency drive for funds.

Thousands Homeless

The latest accurate summary of the situation shows that thousands are homeless and property damage is exceeding earlier estimates.

In Connecticut, the Red Cross tabulation shows 87 injured, 78 hospitalized, 408 homes destroyed, 2,523 homes had major damage, 6,838 homes had minor damage, and 4,681 families registered for assistance.

In Massachusetts, six are hospitalized, 99 homes are destroyed, 336 homes had major damage, 817 homes had minor damage and 1,250 families registered.

In New Jersey, one victim was hospitalized, 53 homes were destroyed, 138 homes had major damage, 247 homes had minor damage, and 540 families need assistance.

In New York, two persons were hospitalized, two homes and 35 trailers were destroyed, 100 homes experienced major damage, 700 homes had minor damage, and 450 families registered.

Was Hardest Hit

Pennsylvania, hardest hit, had 387 injured with 44 hospitalized, 350 homes were destroyed, 1,879 homes had major damage, 5,810 homes had minor damage, and 4,465 families registered for help.

In Rhode Island there were none hospitalized but 13 homes were destroyed, 59 homes had major damage, 290 homes had minor damage and 650 families needed help.

These totals amount to 474 injured, 131 hospitalized, 960 homes destroyed, 5,035 homes had major damages, 14,702 homes had minor damages, and 11,036 families need help.
